SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Black Panther party co-founder Huey P. Newton's voluntary manslaughter conviction in the slaying of an Oakland policeman was reversed Friday by the California Court of Appeal.

The three-judge panel said the jury in the 1968 trial had been given improper instructions. Newton was sentenced to 2 to 15 years in prison.

Policeman John Frey, 23, was shot with his own pistol on Oct. 27, 1967, after he stopped Newton for a routine traffic violation. Newton was wounded in the gun fight and was arrested when he sought treatment at a nearby hospital.

Newton was shot in the abdomen and testified he was unconscious or semiconscious from the time he was wounded until he found himself at the entrance of a hospital, with no knowledge of how he arrived there.

The unanimous decision, written by Justice Joseph A. Rattigan, stressed medical testimony that Newton was in a state of unconsciousness when Frey was shot.

It said the trial judge,

Alameda County Superior Court Judge Monroe Friedman, should have given "appropriate unconsciousness instructions upon its own motion and that its omission was prejudicial error."

"The error was prejudicial per se because the omission operated to deprive defendant of his constitutional right to have the jury determine every material issue presented by the evidence," the panel said.

Deputy State Attorney General Albert Harris indicated he would seek a hearing for review before the same court within 10 days.

Newton is at the California Men's Colony in San Luis Obispo where he has refused to work.

The court's decision was widely viewed as a tremendous boost to the Black Panther Party. In the last two years most of its high-ranking leadership has been imprisoned. In addition, Eldridge Cleaver, the party's most articulate spokesman, chose to go into exile rather than be returned to prison as a parole violator.

At present Bobby Seale, the party's cofounder along with Newton, is in custody in New Haven, Conn., where he is awaiting trial on a murder charge.

Newton was considered the Black Panther Party's most charismatic figure. Within the party he held the position of minister of defense. Seale is the party's national chairman.

CALIFORNIA POLLS Big Unruh Lead; Tunney in Front

By MERVIN D. FIELD

Entering the final week of the campaign, Assemblyman Jess Unruh was holding a wide lead in Democratic voter popularity over his chief rival, Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty.

Comparing a previous California Poll statewide survey with the latest survey conducted during the period of May 23 to 25, shows that while Yorty has made some gains, Unruh has a 2 to 1 margin of preference.

	May 23-25	May 4-11
Unruh	47%	50%
Yorty	24%	18%
Other candidates	8	7
Don't Know	21	25

A special telephone poll conducted on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 26 and 27, taken in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Mateo, Santa Clara, and Marin counties — an area which represents 70 per cent of the state's Democratic vote — did not uncover any further trend toward Yorty.

There have been press reports that the Unruh campaign group will not be making any late hour media blitz in their candidate's behalf before the June 2 primary. Yorty has demonstrated in previous elections that he can make significant late hour gains of voter support. However, it will take a massive realignment of voter support to occur during the last week of the campaign for Yorty to be the winner in this Democratic gubernatorial race.

The California Poll shows the Democratic senatorial primary race between front-running candidates Congressman John Tunney and George Brown has developed into a seesaw contest during the last week of the campaign.

Results of polling between May 23 and May 25 show Tunney regaining a slight 31-27 per cent lead after falling behind Brown earlier in the month. In a special survey Tuesday and Wednesday, Tunney added two more points to his margin.

On the Republican side, Industrialist Norton Simon has made up considerable ground in his race against incumbent Sen. George Murphy. Simon now trails Murphy by 25 points, a gain of 9 points over his May 23-25 showing.

Comparing a previous California Poll statewide survey with the latest survey indicates these trends in the Democratic senatorial race:

	May 23-25	May 4-11
Tunney	31%	20%
Brown	27	29
Hahn	14	10
Others	8	8
Don't Know	20	27

A special telephone poll conducted in the two largest metropolitan areas of the state on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 26 and 27, showed Tunney with a six percentage point lead over Brown.

Results of the poll, reflecting telephone interviews taken in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, Santa Clara, San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Mateo, and Marin counties — an area which represents 70 per cent of the state's Democratic vote — has Tunney with 28 per cent, Brown 22 per cent, Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn with 14 per cent, and 36 per cent undecided.

Simon's late-in-the-race acceleration is shown in a special telephone poll conducted in the two largest metropolitan areas of the state on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 26 and 27. In a polling area which represents 70 per cent of the state's Republican vote, Murphy had 50 per cent, Simon 25 per cent, with 25 per cent undecided.

1,000 S. VIET MARINES IN CITY BATTLE

SAIGON, Saturday (AP) — More than 1,000 South Vietnamese marines battled North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops today in the besieged Cambodian provincial capital of Prey Veng, 30 miles southeast of Phnom Penh.

Field reports said the marines arrived Thursday and Friday to reinforce an inexperienced Cambodian garrison and had killed 81 enemy soldiers in street fighting. Marine casualties were described as light.

"It's a pretty good scrap," said one officer. "There are a good number of enemy troops around the town. I can't say who is in control."

Work-Play Holiday for Nixon

United Press International

President Nixon worked with his advisers in the Western White House in San Clemente Friday on the two major problems he faces: the war in Southeast Asia and the sagging economy.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President conferred at length with Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, his chief foreign policy and defense expert, on the Indochina conflict, he is expected to make an address to the nation within the next three or four weeks outlining in more detail the results of U. S. military operations in Cambodia.

The speech also is expected to give more information on what American policy will be toward Cambodia after the current U.S. thrusts into border sanctuaries end by June 30. Congressional critics have expressed fears that the U. S. involvement will be a continuing one.

ZIEGLER ALSO said the President, here with his wife, Pat, for the Memorial Day weekend, also was working on the economic report he will deliver to the nation in the near future.

No date has yet been set for the speech, but the President was reported heartened by the rebound during the past three days of the stock market.

The Western White House announced that President Nixon had sent

Reagan Leads Final Blitz Against Prop. 8

GOV. REAGAN MAKES A POINT as he attacks controversial ballot Proposition 8 during an outdoor press conference Friday in Los Angeles. The proposition would increase state's share of education and welfare costs.

But Two Democrats Back It

Combined News Services

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday led a statewide blitz campaign against Proposition 8 and for Proposition 7 on Tuesday's election ballot.

He said passage of Prop. 8 and defeat of Prop. 7 would spell "a multi-billion dollar double disaster without precedent in the state's history."

Prop. 7 would increase the maximum interest rates payable on general obligation bonds. Prop. 8 would require the state to pay half of local education costs and nearly all welfare costs.

Reagan also predicted that state spending will have to be trimmed by about $200 million this year and blamed a revenue reducing cooling of the economy and "a gigantic increase in welfare and medical spending."

Acknowledging a probable budget deficit that Assemblyman Jess Unruh, a Democratic contender for governor, forecast earlier in the week, Reagan said present income estimates are not necessarily final and that "possibly six months from now the horizon will be a little brighter."

BUT FOR now, he added, "We're going to have to readjust. We'll have to go back to the budget and trim certain items."

Top Administration officials joined Reagan in issuing appeals for approval of Prop. 7 while a group of California business leaders and Republican legislators toured central California in an airplane denouncing Prop. 8 at airport news conferences.

19 Complaints Filed on 'Phantom Rapist'

By CHARLES HINCH
Staff Writer

Complaints charging Albert R. Savage, "the phantom rapist" suspect with 19 counts of burglary and rape were issued Friday by the district attorney's office in Long Beach.

George W. Trammell III, deputy district attorney, said bail of $100,000 is being recommended in the event Savage is captured. He has been at large since May 21 when he and three other men sawed their way out of the county jail in Los Angeles.

Savage, 23, is a former "lot boy" for an automobile dealership, Trammell said, and some of the victims were apparently women who owned cars he delivered after repairs. One of the victims was attacked on Christmas morning.

POLICE SAID the attacker's method has been to gain entrance to a home between midnight and 6 a.m., then to press a pillow over the face of his victim — sometimes a woman of advanced age — and warn her not to scream.

Usually he binds and gags her before the assault, police continued. On several occasions, they added, the victim's husband has been present but helpless in the face of the intruder's gun.

The complaints charge Savage with nine counts of rape and 10 of burglary. His victims are listed as:

A woman of 60 in Hawaiian Gardens on May 25, 1969; a woman of 75 in the downtown Long Beach area on May 3, 1969; and a woman of 44 in the region of Long Beach's traffic circle on May 6, 1969;

A girl of 16 in the area of Long Beach City College on May 16, 1969; a woman of 22 in Buena Park on Sept. 12; and a woman of 52 in the vicinity of Cal State Long Beach on November 4;

A woman of 53 in the same neighborhood on Dec. 25; a woman of 56 in the City College area on Feb. 9 and a woman of 29 in Norwalk on March 12.

NINE OF THE burglary counts are in conjunction with the charges of rape. As much as $450 was taken in one woman's residence, as little as $10 in another.

High There

Q. What is the highest point in the United States and in the world? B.B., Long Beach.

A. Alaska's Mt. McKinley at 20,320 feet is the highest point in the United States, and the highest point in the contiguous 48 states is California's Mt. Whitney at 14,494 feet. In addition to McKinley, Alaska has 14 peaks that are higher than Whitney. The highest point in the world is Tibet's Mt. Everest at 29,028.

Slow Studio

Q. I ordered seven photograph albums Feb. 20 from Colonial Studios, 20 Bank St., White Plains, N.Y. They cashed by $20.09 check but did not send the albums. I wrote to them twice but they did not answer. Please try to help me. I can't afford to lose that much money. Mrs. J. G., Long Beach.

GRAFFITI by Leary

Q. On March 17 I sent a check for $3.23 to Colonial Studios in White Plains, N.Y., for a photograph album. However, I have not received the album. Could you be of assistance to me in this matter? Mrs. F.R., Long Beach.

A. You both should be getting your albums soon, according to Mrs. Betty Coder at Colonial Studios. She could not explain what had happened to the original shipments but she asked that you refuse to accept the second parcel.

If you receive both the original shipment and the duplicate shipment, ACTION LINE, which has received complaints about this company before, checked with the Better Business Bureau, 188 Westchester Ave., White Plains, N.Y. 10601. We were told that the BBB receives complaints about Colonial Studios when orders are delayed, but the company always adjusts them promptly.

VACATIONERS FLOCK TO RESORTS

Memorial Day Highway Jam

Mostly sunny skies and a high temperature of 78 degrees are forecast today as hundreds of thousands of Southern Californians take to the highways to spend Memorial Day at parks, beaches, the mountains and the desert.

Camp sites at state parks and beaches from the Mexican border to north of San Francisco were "booked solid" for the weekend, according to a State Department of Beaches and Parks spokesman who said space remained for persons visiting the areas without staying overnight.

The National Safety Council estimated that as many as 450 persons would die in Memorial Day weekend traffic as vacationers throughout the nation clogged the highways on holiday outings.

Traditional services honoring the nation's war dead were scheduled for today at cemeteries and military installations throughout the Southland (see story on Page B-1).

Weather Bureau spokesmen said the sun will burn off early morning cloudiness, bringing a warm, smog-free day to the Long Beach area.

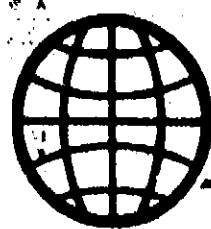

Mountain areas will have fair weather through Sunday and desert temperatures will reach 97 in the higher valleys and 105 in lower valleys, the Weather Bureau reported.

136 Reds Killed in Parrot's Beak

Combined News Services

SAIGON — South Vietnamese troops killed 136 Communists in a day of fighting Friday in the Parrot's Beak section of Cambodia, allied military spokesmen said, but the Viet Cong cut the strategic highway linking Saigon and the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh by blasting a bridge in the same region. Spokesmen said the South Vietnamese battled a large Communist force during the day southeast of Svay Rieng, capital of the province of the same name in the area where allied troops launched the Cambodian operation a month ago. Just east of Svay Rieng, Communists knocked out a bridge on Highway 1, the only road between the Cambodian and South Vietnamese capitals. In the fighting, the South Vietnamese also captured or destroyed 21 weapons and seized 100 bags of rice. They suffered casualties of three dead and 24 wounded, spokesmen said.

Arms Talks Shortest on Record

VIENNA — American and Soviet arms negotiators met for 40 minutes Friday, their shortest session so far, and official sources said both sides were worried that optimistic statements from Washington may be building the public up for a letdown. Statements by President Nixon and Secretary of State William Rogers have tended to paint a glowing picture of progress at the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks here. Sources said there has been progress, but warned that any agreement will take months — possibly years — to work out.

Common Market Accord

BAGNAIA — Foreign ministers of the six member nations of the European Common Market reached basic agreement Friday to coordinate foreign policies in the first step toward possible political unity. France has been the main foot dragger under policies of former President Charles De Gaulle. The Foreign ministers gave the approval to admit Common Market applicants, including Britain, to "an exchange of views" twice a year.

Israeli Jet Raids Kill 3

CAIRO — Israeli planes raided Egyptian positions along the Suez Canal and the Red Sea Friday, killing three Egyptian soldiers and wounding seven others, the Egyptian military command announced. Israel said all its planes returned safely. Earlier, Israeli troops killed 10 members of a Syrian guerrilla band that crossed into the Jewish state from Jordan about 12 miles south of the Sea of Galilee, the Israeli military command reported.

Queen Dissolves Parliament

LONDON — Queen Elizabeth, acting at the request of Prime Minister Harold Wilson, dissolved parliament Friday until July 2. Her royal warrant launched the official campaign for the June 18 national elections. Conservative Leader Edward Heath got off the opening salvo of the race, charging that Wilson and his Labor government were "men of straw." Wilson, seeking another five years of Labor Party rule for Britain, entered the fray with a warning the Conservative Party promise of tax cuts could cripple the finances of millions of ordinary families.

One Killed in Ceylon Rampage

COLOMBO, Saturday — Leftist youths, celebrating the victory of Mrs. Srimavo Bandaranaike in Ceylon's elections, rampaged through former Prime Minister Dudley Senanayake's home district Friday and killed a police officer. The officer, who was directing an anti-riot squad at Warakpola, was the first known fatality of youths celebrating the return to power of the woman premier.

Dixie Jury Asks Death for Robber

BIRMINGHAM — The death penalty has been decreed for a Birmingham area man convicted of robbing a teenage girl who testified of a four-hour ordeal during which she said she was kicked, beaten and criminally assaulted. A jury of seven women and five men deliberated nearly three hours before finding John Henry Jones Jr., 23, of Edgewater, guilty of armed robbery in the Sept. 13 abduction of Rose Marie Campisi, 18, of Birmingham, Ala. Taken was $30 and a wrist watch. Still on file against Jones are two counts of criminal assault, one of abduction and one of assault with intent to murder. The jury fixed the maximum penalty for armed robbery in Alabama. Death sentences are automatically appealed to the State Supreme Court.

IT&T Ignores Nader Lawsuit

HARTFORD — International Telephone & Telegraph said Friday it's going ahead with acquisition of the Hartford Fire Insurance Co., regardless of lawsuits filed by Ralph Nader and the Department of Justice. The announcement prompted an attorney for Nader to threaten to seek contempt of court proceedings against ITT. Nader has filed an appeal after Connecticut's Insurance Commissioner William R. Cotter refused to reconsider his approval of the merger, reportedly the largest in U.S. history.

Buying Stampede Continues

NEW YORK — The buying stampede continued on Wall Street Friday as traders ignored traditional preweekend caution, and gave the market its best three-day advance in history. As measured by the Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 top blue chip companies, the market soared another 16.29, to 700.44.

Counting the points gained Wednesday and Thursday, the market has regained between $50 billion and $60 billion in paper value. (Details, Page C-6, 7.)

Hail, Winds Hit Southwest

CHICAGO — Hail a half inch in diameter pelted Oklahoma City Friday and four and a quarter inches of rain fell over the area in six hours, causing flash floods. Winds broke plate glass windows in Elk City, Okla., and snapped seven power poles. Funnel clouds were seen over Beaumont, Tex., and Lamar, Iowa. Thunderstorms hit northern Illinois and parts of Missouri and Kansas. Light rain fell in the Pacific Northwest for six hours, but most of the West had sunny skies.

Focus on Arlington Cemetery

WASHINGTON — On this Memorial Day, as on all such observances in the past 102 years, the focus will be on Arlington National Cemetery which overlooks the nation's capital. On its wooded hills lie more men who served in uniform than in any other cemetery — 152,500 including wives and children. They fought in all of America's wars from the Revolution to Vietnam. Among them are 245 Medal of Honor winners, more than in any other place.

Draft Boss Can't Tell 'em Apart

WASHINGTON — Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr says he wouldn't mind allowing conscientious objectors to choose which wars they refuse to fight, if only someone would show him how to separate honest objectors from dishonest ones. Tarr indicated he would be willing to recommend enlarging the definition of conscientious objection if a workable definition could be provided. He says also the federal government should organize federal work programs for conscientious objectors in which they could be of real service, adding that in many communities there are now no useful programs for such people.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

Maddox to Picket Atlanta Papers

Combined News Services

Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, declaring The Atlanta Journal and The Atlanta Constitution have "waged constant war" against him, said Friday he will personally picket the newspapers next week. "As soon as the signs are ready," he said. "I'm going over there and demonstrate for days and hours against those fish-wrappers."

Angered by the opposition of both newspapers to the special legislative session he plans to call, the governor also banned sales of both papers from "all state property."

He accused the newspapers of "the lowest, yellow, crooked journalism" and called on all Georgians to drop their subscriptions to the two Atlanta papers, the largest in the state, for the month of July. He said the papers' editorial policy was not only "against Lester Maddox," but has contributed to the unrest in this country and, in particular, to the recent riots in Augusta, where six blacks were killed.

William I. Ray, executive vice president of the papers, said: "We believe in the freedom of the press, including the freedom of others to criticize us. Thus we gave complete coverage on page one to Gov. Maddox's criticism. We will continue to make our papers available to the public for purchase and will defend our freedom to do so."

Maddox said if his campaign doesn't work, "I will call on the business community to drop its advertising in the papers, picket businesses which refuse to drop their advertising and, perhaps, prohibit by executive order all liquor advertising in the two papers." "They — The Journal and The Constitution — have been beating on me every day since I've been over here and I'm tired of it," Maddox said, red-faced and pounding on his desk.

POPE'S TRIP

Pope Paul VI will fly nearly half way around the earth to the Philippines and Australia in November in the ninth and longest journey abroad of his jet-age reign. The Vatican said Friday that the pontiff would take part in conferences of Roman Catholic bishops from Asia and the Pacific islands. The Asia conference will be in Manila, the one for Oceania in Sydney.

FOUQUET WEEPS

Ronald Fouquet shed tears Friday as Los Angeles Superior Court judge formally sentenced him to death in the slaying of his common law wife's 5-year-old son, Jeffery Lansdown.

Then Fouquet, a 32-year-old maintenance mechanic, told Judge Adolph Alexander he was convicted on testimony by the boy's mother, Betty Lansdown, which he contended was obviously rehearsed. Fouquet said the 26-year-old woman used words that were not part of her vocabulary. He called upon Mrs. Lansdown to "come forward and tell the truth."

JFK BIRTHDAY

The sole remaining brother of John Kennedy, his former secretary and an aide to President Nixon appeared at the grave of the late President Friday on what would have been his 53rd birthday. Almost unnoticed by a group of Girl Scouts, Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and his wife, Joan, stood silently at the gravesite in Arlington National Cemetery in Washington during a brief visit during the morning. They placed a rose there and another at the nearby grave of former New York Sen. Robert Kennedy. Earlier, Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, the assassinated President's personal secretary placed a red rose on his tombstone. In mid-morning, Daniel Moynihan, a White House adviser, brought a wreath of remembrance from Nixon.

HEART PUMP

Research can develop a pump capable of taking over the functions of the human heart, according to noted heart surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey. Speaking at a meeting of the Mid-South Medical Association in Memphis, Tenn., DeBakey said, however, that the ultimate solution is the prevention of heart disease. He said that this country needs to intensify effort toward prevention.

BIG CARD

Air Force Sgt. Herman C. Knott is in Vietnam and couldn't be here for his wife Dorothy's birthday, so he sent her a special card, a whole billboard. The sign, posted in Newark, says:

"To My Devoted Wife Dorothy Happy Birthday. With Love, Sgt. Herman C. Knott."

Knott has been in the service for 20 years. He and his wife have four children. "They say things are big in Texas, but Newark has the biggest birthday card ever," Mrs. Knott said. Knott has 89 days left in his Vietnam tour.

SOVIET VISIT

Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong wound up a six-day visit in Leningrad Friday with a heavy sightseeing schedule before flying to the Siberian science city of Novosibirsk. The official Soviet news agency Tass said Armstrong was accompanied on the flight by Soviet cosmonauts Georgy Beregovoy and Konstantin Fel'dkistov.

NOMINATED

President Nixon announced Friday he is nominating T. Keith Glennan, a former member of the Atomic Energy Commission, to be U.S. representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency. Glennan, 64, from Reston, Va., will have the rank of ambassador in his new post.

AUTHOR DIES

COURT RULES IN FAVOR OF COL. SANDERS

The Frankfort Court of Appeals ruled Friday Col. Harland Sanders, living symbol of Kentucky Fried Chicken, is entitled to repayment of $7,200 he presented a man whose sister was killed 30 years ago in a traffic accident involving Sanders. Sanders was absolved of blame, but he paid the funeral expenses for the 12-year-old girl and promised to help the family if he ever were in a position to do so.

John Warner, a younger brother of the girl, contacted Sanders, whose face by that time had become a worldwide trademark, in the middle 1960s. After a visit to the Warner home in Northern Kentucky, Sanders gave him $1,000 and a $500 scholarship for Warner's daughter. Warner later visited Sanders and obtained another $7,200 to pay off debts.

The lawsuit was filed to regain that money, which Sanders claimed was given as an interest-free loan and Warner said was a gift. The court ruled in favor of the fried chicken magnate, saying the money was a loan and Warner's transfer of his real estate to his wife was done with intent to defraud Sanders.

That was the ruling upheld by Kentucky's highest court. It said Warner must repay the money.

NO ALLIANCE

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said Friday night Canada has no intention of allying itself with any country in the Pacific. Trudeau, arriving after a six-nation tour of the Pacific, said, "to the extent that we are neutral in the Pacific, we do not have to be in any blocs. I do not see that Canada can play a useful role in allying with SEATO and we have no intentions of engaging ourselves in military alliances there."

'SWIGERT DAY'

Apollo 13 astronaut John Swigert will be honored in Denver with a Memorial Day parade today. Gov. John Love, who proclaimed today "John Swigert Day," said the astronaut's achievements were "in the best pioneer traditions of the people of Colorado."

KIDNAPED

Former Argentine President Pedro Aramburu, a leader of the military revolution that toppled dictator Juan Peron, was kidnapped from his Buenos Aires apartment Friday by men who later identified themselves as Peronists and said he would be submitted to "revolutionary justice." The kidnapers announced their intention in a note discovered hidden in a downtown tavern 12 hours after Aramburu was kidnapped. It said Aramburu was a "traitor to the country" and had been kidnapped "with the aim of submitting him to revolutionary justice."

EVEREST 'DEBT'

Sir Edmund Hillary, the first man to scale Mt. Everest, returned to Katmandu from the Everest region of Nepal Friday after building four schools for Sherpa children in the mountainous area. Hillary said he built the schools as part payment of a debt climbers owe Sherpa villagers for their Himalayan successes. Hillary and Sherpa Tenzing Norgay set foot on Everest's summit in 1953 — the first known climbers to accomplish the feat.

Younger, O'Brien Likely Nominees

By MERVIN D. FIELD

If the voter trends now in evidence in the Republican and Democratic attorney-general races hold up in the final days of the campaign, it would appear that Republican Evelle Younger and Democrat Charles O'Brien will be their respective party nominees and will face each other in the November election.

The trend of vote in the Republican attorney general race as reflected in two California Poll surveys is shown below:

REPUBLICANS—STATEWIDE
	May 23-25	May 4-11
Younger	38%	33%
Deukmejian	14	14
Williams	8	12
Harmer	7	9
Don't Know	42	32

The increase in the proportion of Republicans who say they are undecided may reflect some growing indecision in this four-way race which has heated up during the closing days of the campaign.

A special telephone poll conducted in the two largest metropolitan areas of the state on Tuesday and Wednesday, showed Younger maintaining his lead over the other candidates. Results of this poll reflect telephone interviews taken in Los Angeles, Orange, San Bernardino, Riverside, San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Mateo, Santa Clara and Marin counties — an area which represents about 70 per cent of the Republican vote.

DEMOCRATS—STATEWIDE
	May 23-25	May 4-11
O'Brien	47%	44%
Culpepper	11	9

Many Voters Not Aware of Issues

About a week before this election, only about six in 10 California voters had seen or heard something about Proposition 8 — the controversial initiative plan which would drastically alter the state's system of tax levies and disbursements.

Even larger proportions of the public have not seen or heard anything about Proposition 1, a $250 million bond issue to finance expanded health and science facilities at six UC campuses, and Proposition 7, a measure which would allow the Legislature to raise the present 5 per cent interest rate ceiling on general obligation bonds which have been approved but not sold.

Following are the proportions of voters who said they had seen or heard anything about each of the three propositions. Findings are compared with an early May California Poll survey:

SEEN OR HEARD ANYTHING ABOUT—
	May 23-25	May 4-11
Proposition 1	39	15
Proposition 7	37	27
Proposition 8	59	27

In interviewing, the California Poll repeated a technique used earlier in an attempt to measure awareness and vote disposition to these three state propositions. In each survey a split sample procedure was used. One-half of the overall sample was asked to indicate whether they had seen or heard anything about each of the three propositions, what they had seen or heard, and then asked how they would vote if the election were being held at the time of the interview.

In the other half of the sample, potential voters were shown the printed statements as they will appear on the June 2 ballot and then asked how they would vote if the election were being held then.

The results obtained from Sample A, those who were asked if they knew something about the ballot proposition; in these two surveys are shown below:

PROPOSITION 1
	May 23-25	May 4-11
Would vote for	22	8
Would vote against	9	4
Undecided	8	3
Have not seen or heard anything about it	61	85
proposition 7
Would vote for	18	17
Would vote against	10	4
Undecided	9	6
Have not seen or heard anything about it	63	73
proposition 8
Would vote against	21	20
Would vote against	23	15
Undecided	15	11
Have not seen or heard anything about it	41	54

Following are the results obtained from Sample B, those who were shown a copy of the ballot statement and not asked about prior awareness, compared with an early May survey.

PROPOSITION 1
	May 23-25	May 4-11
Would vote for	43	41
Would vote against	36	39
Undecided	21	20
PROPOSITION 7
Would vote for	31	41
Would vote against	36	31
Undecided	30	25
PROPOSITION 8
Would vote for	34	44
Would vote against	43	36
Undecided	23	20

The poll finds that slightly more people say they would vote against Proposition 8 than vote for it. On Propositions 1 and 7, there appears to be more expressed sentiment for these measures than against them, but the low level of awareness and commitment to all three propositions on the part of the voters indicates considerable instability of voting commitment.

Students to Get Only Union Grapes

FRESNO — Students at Fresno City College have voted to have only union-harvested grapes served in the school's cafeteria.

The administration says it will abide by the decision.

The vote was 260 to 181. The election was called after students of Mexican descent said only grapes picked by members of the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee should be served.

'VARIETY' GETS SOME FROM COSBY

Daily Variety, the show business trade paper, carried a full page ad Thursday listing the names of some 180 stars and others who support GOP Sen. George Murphy for reelection.

Friday, the paper carried another full page ad. Its message: "Bill Cosby does not support George Murphy."

Cranston Hits 'War Cancer'

President Nixon has prescribed only "aspirin" for an economy "critically ill with the cancer of the Vietnam War," Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston said Friday in Long Beach.

Cranston joined with two other California congressmen in pledging his support to legislation favoring postal workers in a luncheon address to nearly 200 delegates to the state convention of the National Postal Union, convened in Long Beach.

The senator charged that all the ills of America are a result of the Indochina war. "This country cannot cure itself of its economic and social ills" until American involvement in Southeast Asia ends, he said.

THE SENATOR also told union delegates he favored an 8 per cent pay raise for postal workers retroactive to April 18 of this year, according to a spokesman for the union.

Earlier, Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Inglewood, offered delegates his support for "the industrial concept of the postal unions," said Larry Roberts, the union spokesman.

According to Roberts, Wilson has given strong backing to a House of Representatives bill — HR-17070 — which favors postal workers, calling for their continued recognition as a bargaining group and "localization" of wage rates.

Wilson has also proposed an amendment to the bill, which is now before the House rules Committee, Roberts said.

Final speaker at the second session of the three-day convention was Rep. Alphonso Bell, R-Los Angeles.

BELL TOLD delegates the recent work stoppage by postal employees "made a point," Roberts reported, and lauded the House of Representatives for "rejecting discrimination among unions — as it should have."

Majority of Students Protest, Hitch Says

SAN FRANCISCO — For the first time, student protest on University of California campuses encompasses a majority of the academic community, President Charles J. Hitch said Friday.

"The Cambodian operation and the shock of Kent State and Jackson State have galvanized a broad cross section of the campus population," Hitch told the Commonwealth Club of San Francisco.

In contrast with past years, when outsiders outnumbered student protesters, today's protests involve "engineers as well as humanities students, athletes as well as student government officers, sorority and fraternity members and many other student groups that have not until now been activists," the university system president said.

THE ADDITION of "this broad cross section" has resulted in moderation of tactics and a determination to prevent violence, he said.

Rafferty's Lead Cut but Foes Trail Badly

By MERVIN D. FIELD

The possibility of Max Rafferty being forced into a November run off election in the state school superintendent race next week has become stronger during the late stages of the primary campaign. However, for this situation to occur, the combined vote of the other eight candidate vying for Rafferty's job would have to become larger than what was indicated by a California Poll survey completed earlier this week.

In a statewide survey completed between May 23 and 25, Rafferty lead a pack of eight other candidates with 40 per cent of the vote. This compares with 41 per cent he achieved early in May. However, while the combined vote of the other candidates added to 24 per cent early in the month, that figure is now 30 per cent.

Wilson Riles has moved into second place ahead of Julian Nava. A substantial segment of voters is still undecided and as a group could have a considerable effect on Tuesday's outcome.

Following are the trends in vote from the most recent survey compared with a measurement obtained earlier this month.

	May 23-25	May 4-11
Rafferty	40%	41%
Riles	11	7
Nava	8	9
Others	11	8
Undecided	30	35

A special telephone poll conducted in the two largest metropolitan areas of the state on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 26 and 27, found Rafferty holding his 4 to 3 lead over the combined vote of the other eight candidates.

Brown, Brown Same Hue in Voter Survey

Edmund G. Brown Jr., son of the former governor and contender for secretary of state, claimed Friday some Democratic voters could not distinguish between himself and Rep. George Brown. Rep. Brown is seeking the Democratic senatorial nomination.

The former governor's son said his campaign had conducted a poll this week of 384 registered Democrats in West Los Angeles. Fifty per cent were first asked, "can you tell me who is Edmund G. Brown Jr.?" and the other 50 per cent were first asked, "can you tell me who is George E. Brown Jr.?"

According to the poll, 20 per cent correctly identified Edmund Brown Jr. as the former governor's son, and 16 per cent incorrectly identified Rep. Brown as the former governor's son. The pollsters said 28 per cent did not know who Edmund Brown Jr. was, and 27 per cent could not identify Rep. Brown.

Brown Says Tunney Attacks Rip Party

Rep. George Brown said Friday that intemperate attacks by his chief rival for the Democratic Senatorial nomination could damage the party irreparably. Then he apologized for a remark of his own about the rival, Rep. John Tunney.

"I regret it. I apologize for it. I will not repeat it," Brown told a Los Angeles news conference, referring to his saying that Tunney is acting like a little rich boy "who never had to work for a living."

BROWN SAID he had made the comment because he lost his temper.

Tunney issued a statement saying in part: "I welcome the conciliatory statement and words of apology by Rep. Brown. I intend, during these last days as I have in the past, to discuss the facts and the issues — and not personalities."

Brown said earlier that Tunney had attacked him recently and that the attacks "can do irreparable damage to the Democratic party in November, regardless of who the nominee is."

HE SAID the central issue in the race leading to the June 2 primary is "war and peace."

"The issue in this campaign is whether we will reverse the Nixon-Murphy war policies," said Brown.

referring to the President and George Murphy, the GOP incumbent whose Senate seat Brown is seeking.

"I see Tuesday's election as a referendum on the war," Brown said. "I oppose the war in Vietnam. I oppose our invasion of Cambodia. The war is wrong. It must be ended."

Tunney, nominee for the U.S. Senate, will make a personal appearance at Lakewood High School athletic field at 7 tonight. The congressman will participate in a Memorial Day ceremony sponsored jointly by the city's American Legion post and by the Lakewood Drum and Bugle Corps.

REAGAN

Rodda of Sacramento and Alan Short of Stockton, urged approval of Prop. 8. Short said the measure represented "the only hope California has in 1970 for significant help for the public schools and effective relief for property taxpayers."

Rodda, chairman of the senate education Committee, said the proposed amendment to the constitution "offers the only viable alternative to the people if they wish to implement California's traditional concern and support for public education."

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke said money to finance Prop. 8 during its first year would "have to come from an approximately 85 per cent increase in the personal income tax or an estimate 50 per cent increase in the state sales tax."

ANY INCREASE in taxes would require legislative approval.

Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty, a Democratic candidate for governor, and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto have endorsed Prop. 8. Unruh has taken "no position" on it.

The chairman of the anti-Prop. 8 campaign Robert Brown of the California Taxpayers Association, forecast the measure would be "soundly defeated" because the voters "will not trade $25 worth of relief for $200 in additional taxation."

He said if passed, the Legislature first would look toward $71.4 million in proposed state college and university salary raises to finance the plan.

Reagan, at a news conference in Los Angeles, said a fiscal "catastrophe" would occur if Prop. 7 failed and 8 won passage.

He repeated the warning that statewide taxes would have to be increased by $1.13 billion this year and more in subsequent years to make up the revenue lost if Prop. 8 is approved.

Reagan said that failure to approve the bond measure would shift onto the taxpayers the existing $1-billion debt for the retirement of bonds already sold for construction of the California Water Project.

The measure would increase from 5 to 7 per cent the maximum interest the state can pay on bonds, including a backlog of more than $1-billion worth in bonds for water, veterans loans, local schools and parks and recreation.

BECAUSE of inflation, the state for more than a year has been virtually unable to sell its bonds at 5 per cent. Supporters hope that increasing the rate will make the bonds saleable.

Reagan's own $600 million tax shift plan is pending in the Legislature. But Rodda charged it would "provide for a shift of the tax burden from those best able to pay to those least able to pay."

He said it was "grossly unrealistic" to believe that the Legislature would provide more state aid to local schools this year because no funds are available from existing sources of revenue and because Reagan is committed to providing "local property tax relief, rather than support of the schools."

Later, at a taping of KNBC's "News Conference," for airing at 6:30 p.m. today, Reagan was asked "yes or no" whether more state money will be available next year for school aid.

"You say 'yes or no,'" the governor responded. "I'm dealing with 120 legislators. If more money is needed, I think it will be available."

Regan said he was "shocked" that Unruh, "a man aspiring to the governorship could come down to the wire" without taking a stand on the propositions.

MEANTIME, water resources director William Gianelli condemned what he called "last-ditch efforts," by some conservation organizations to scuttle the water project by defeating the measure. They fear he proposed peripheral canal would pollute San Francisco Bay.

GETTING READY FOR OIL SLICK FROM BLAST

Youngsters spread hay along a stretch of beach at Galveston, Texas, Friday to soak up oil expected to wash ashore from a drilling platform in the Gulf of Mexico where an explosion and fire killed four men and left five missing. Seventeen men were rescued, including 15 picked from the water by a boatload of conventioning Shriners.

FRANCO, ROGERS IN BASE TALKS

MADRID (UPI) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers conferred with Generalissimo Francisco Franco Friday on a new agreement providing for the continued presence of U.S. military bases in Spain, then flew to Lisbon for consultations with the Portuguese government.

During his meeting with Franco, Rogers presented a letter from President Nixon expressing the hope that a new agreement on the U.S. bases could be concluded before the present pact, signed in 1953, expires Sept. 26. The bases involved include Air Force facilities at Torrejon, Moron and Zaragoza and the Navy's Polaris missile-armed submarine base of Rota, near Cadiz.

"Both sides agreed to acknowledge the progress accomplished towards an agreement," said a joint communique released after Rogers' departure.

'HARD HATS' GATHER Yippie Leader Speaks at UCSB

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Five weeks after he was barred from speaking at the University of California campus here, Yippie leader Jerry Rubin addressed some 5,000 students Friday in the campus stadium.

Rubin called for an end to ROTC courses, saying, "Nobody has the right to teach murder." Halfway through his address, several hundred persons walked out of the stadium.

Some 50 workers wearing hard hats had gathered near the stadium, but students and authorities talked them out of marching into the stadium to show their opposition to Rubin's appearance.

WHEN RUBIN was banned from a campus appearance, his wife Nancy appeared instead. The Isla Vista area near the campus suffered from property-damaging demonstrations this year, and a student was accidentally shot to death by a policeman, a coroner's inquest ruled.

Chancellor Vernon Cheadle allowed the appearance, a spokesman said, because "things have cooled off a lot here."

RUBIN DISPLAYED what he said was the flag for a new nation. The flag's colors, he said, represent "black for anarchy, red for communism and green for you know what."

Rubin denounced construction workers, noting a recent march in New York by some of them in support of President Nixon. "Next time those people won't be unarmed," Rubin said. "Police do not protect us."

3,000 at Rally to Back Officer in Seattle Death

SEATTLE (UPI) — About 3,000 persons braved rainy weather Friday to attend an outdoor rally in support of a Seattle police officer accused of wrongdoing in the shooting death of a young black man suspected of planting a bomb.

The demonstration, addressed by a number of government officials, was called to protest the 3-2 decision by a coroner's inquest jury that officer John Hamath shot and killed Larry Ward, 22, a black Vietnam veteran, by "criminal means."

The jury's findings brought on a crisis among police officers who met Thursday night to discuss a possible work stoppage to demonstrate their opposition to the inquest.

The officers decided to report for work as usual and the head of the police officers' guild issued a statement which said, in part, "right now we are frustrated, fed up, disgusted and bitterly angry with the procedure of the inquests."

to congress a request for a supplemental appropriation of $250 million for fiscal 1970 to provide more money for home mortgages.

The measure was a routine step to provide funding for the proposed emergency home finance act of 1970, a measure designed to spur the building industry, which now is pending before the House Rules Committee.

Friday afternoon, the President went for a drive along the Pacific Coast Highway and through the Laguna Canyon area with his old friend, C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo at the wheel of an unmarked, white Lincoln.

The President covered about 50 miles. He stopped at Taylor's Walgreen Drugs in downtown San Clemente to buy his wife a 2-pound box of candy which had a wrapper saying Happy Father's Day on it. The sales clerk offered to take it off but Nixon insisted that it be left on.

The President chatted with a crowd that quickly assembled and remained for about 15 minutes before returning to the Western White House compound.

Meanwhile, the White House confirmed that the appointment of a chemistry professor opposed to U.S. actions in Cambodia to a top science post was reconsidered because he made personal statements about the President.

HOWEVER, A spokesman said, Dr. George Hammond of Caltech withdrew his own name from consideration as deputy director of the National Science Foundation before a final decision had been made on the appointment.

Hammond, head of the chemistry department of the institute at Pasadena, had said his appointment had been rejected because at a campus rally May 1 he protested the Administration's decision to involve U.S. troops in Cambodia.

The White House spokesman said Hammond had indicated his opposition to the Cambodian decision and said he hoped Nixon and the Republican party would be defeated in the next election.

The spokesman said Hammond was called by Nixon's science staff to verify the statements and did so.

Mrs. Rosemary Jean Cantos, 5-foot-3 Harbor City mother of six, was arraigned on a manslaughter charge Friday in San Pedro Municipal Court.

Judge Pat Mullendore set her preliminary hearing for 9:30 a.m. Thursday and later released her on $6,125 bail.

Mrs. Cantos, 35, is accused of killing her ex-husband, Joseph A. Cantos, 32, a Redondo Beach gardener, who was shot to death at 12:10 a.m. Tuesday in front of his ex-wife's apartment, 1348½ W. Anaheim St.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas R. Simpson, who issued the complaint against Mrs. Cantos, rejected a police request for a complaint against a witness they said gave detectives a false report of the shooting.

After two days of investigation detectives requested the witness on a polygraph (lie detector) and subsequently arrested Mrs. Cantos.

Nixon Accused of 'Liquidating' Postal Unions

United Press International The president of the National Postal Union said Friday the Nixon Administration is trying to "liquidate" all federal employee unions not affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

David Silvergleid said his union and the National Alliance of Postal and Federal Employees were chosen as "sacrificial lambs" in the scheme embodied in the postal reform bill now before Congress.

Silvergleid told a Los Angeles news conference the Administration was trying to create Soviet Union-style unions which deprive members of free choice of unions.

ALCATRAZ SIEGE

U.S. Cuts Off Indians' Water

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Alcatraz Indians said Friday the government's removal of its water barge has left their band of 100 invaders with only a four-day supply of water.

The Indians accused the government, in cutting off both water and electric power, of creating "serious health problems" for those on Alcatraz, including 23 children.

But Bob Bradley, Indian spokesman, insisted:

"The government's attempt to force us off the island by these or any other methods will not succeed. We are here to stay."

THE INDIANS invaded the former prison site, a waterless island in San Francisco Bay, six months ago and ignored government officials who said they were trespassing. The Indians claimed they were the island's rightful owners under various treaties.

On Wednesday the General Services Administration announced the island, which has been unused since 1963, would be converted into a national park. The next day government caretakers were withdrawn, the barge removed and power shut off.

Thomas E. Hannon, regional GSA administrator, said the Indians would have to bring their own water after 70,000 gallons left in the island tank have been used.

Bradley, however, said the measurement gauges don't work and Indian observers of the tank figure only 4,000 gallons remain. He said 1,000 gallons will be needed daily, and not water barge is available in San Francisco Bay.

"We ask that our friends bring us water in any amount by boat," he said.

The Indians demand that title to the island be given to a non-profit Indian corporation which would develop an educational and cultural center on the island.

Man Hurt, Horse Killed on Freeway

The West is as wild as ever, as far as Deputy John Scott of the Lakewood Sheriff's Station is concerned.

Shortly before 3:30 p.m., Friday, Scott received a radio broadcast directing him to a "horse vs. auto" traffic accident on Artesia Boulevard at the San Gabriel River Freeway overpass.

At the scene, Scott found Michael A. Ilwakins, 19, of 15523 Dartmoor Ave., Norwalk, who told him that a horse had shied into the roadway and he had been unable to avoid the beast.

The rider, Ellis E. Reno, 21, of 3220 E. 68th St., Long Beach, was thrown from the horse by the impact and was taken to Fort MacArthur base hospital by a bystander. Reno was treated and released.

The horse didn't fare that well. It was dead at the scene, the deputy said.

Junk or a Bonanza? Buyer Never Knows

SAN GABRIEL (AP) — Will it be junk or bonanza?

Ray Bade never knows when he buys items sight unseen at unclaimed freight and warehouse auctions. The stuff is sold in sealed boxes.

He once saw a box with the address of a fashionable neighborhood in Florida and got it with a bid of $42. It contained all the wedding presents of a well-to-do couple and he sold the items — silverware, angora sweaters and such — for $950.

BUT HE SAYS HE paid $43 for items represented as apparel the late star wore in films — but doesn't know what to do with the stuff.

Nor does he have any ideas for disposing of the contents of a box full of personal papers of a deceased screen writer.

And he's still mulling a way to capitalize on his recent purchase of two computers, which originally cost $4,500 each. His cost: $200 each.

The computers were programmed to produce print-outs of any law on the books in California. The idea of the inventor, now deceased, was to have a telephone system so attorneys could dial a statute.

BLIND LUCK HELPS sometimes. Bade once bought a carton of what he thought was window glass. It turned out to be oil paintings of value.

He tells of a man who bought a box full of what he thought were nuts and bolts, but turned out to be thousands of ceramic heat radiants. They would be of considerable value to someone who had several thousand stores minus such radiants — but so far such a person has not materialized.

Another gentleman of Bade's acquaintance received, for $80, 5,000 bottles of meat tenderizer — solidified stone hard in the bottles so it couldn't be poured.

Woman Fought to Stop Daughter's Rape

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh in a series of 12 articles excerpted from "My Lai 4," an in-depth report on the atrocity that occurred on March 16, 1968, in a South Vietnamese hamlet. The author, Seymour M. Hersh, has received the 1970 Pulitzer Prize for reporting on the My Lai tragedy.

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

In other parts of May Lai 4, GIs were taking a break, or loafing. Others were systematically burning those remaining homes and huts and destroying food. Some villagers, still alive, were able to leave their hiding places and walk away.

Charles West recalled that one member of his squad who simply wasn't able to slaughter a group of children asked for and received permission from an officer to let them go.

West's third platoon went ahead, nonetheless, with the killing. They gathered a small group of about ten women and children, who huddled together in fear a few feet from the plaza, where dozens of villagers already had been slain. West and his squad had finished their mission in the north and west of the hamlet, and were looking for new targets. They drifted south toward the CP.

Jay Roberts and Ron Haerberle, who had spent the past hour watching the slaughter in other parts of the hamlet, stood by — pencil and cameras at the ready.

A few men now singled out a slender Vietnamese girl of about 15. They tore her from the group and started to pull at her blouse. They attempted to fondle her breasts. The old women and children were screaming and crying. One GI yelled, "Let's see what she's made of."

Another said, "VC Boom, Boom," meaning she was a Viet Cong whore.

Jay Roberts thought the girl was good-looking. An old lady began fighting with fanatical fury, trying to protect the girl. Roberts said, "She was fighting off two or three guys at once. She was fantastic. Usually they're pretty passive... they hadn't even gotten that chick's blouse off when Haerberle came along." One of the GIs finally smashed the old woman with his rifle butt; another booted her in the rear.

Ronald Grzesik and his fire team watched the fight develop as they walked down from the ditch to the hamlet center. Grzesik was surprised: "I thought the village was cleared... I didn't know there were that many people left." He knew trouble was brewing, and his main thought was to keep his team out of it. He helped break up the fight.

Some of the children were desperately hanging on to the old lady as she struggled. Grzesik was worried about the cameraman. He may have yelled, "Hey, there's a photographer."

He remembered thinking, "Here's a guy standing there with a camera that you've never seen before." Then somebody said, "What do we do with them." The answer was, "Waste them." Suddenly there was a burst of automatic fire from many guns. Only a small child survived. Somebody then carefully shot him, too.

A photograph of the woman and child, with the young Vietnamese girl tucking in her blouse, was later published in Life magazine. Roberts tried to explain later: "It's just that they didn't know what they were supposed to do; killing them seemed like a good idea, so they did it. The old lady who fought so hard was probably a VC." He thought a moment and added, "Maybe it was just her daughter."

By now it was nearly 10:30 a.m. and most of the company began drifting aimlessly toward the plaza and the command post a few yards to the south. Their work was largely over; a good part of the hamlet was in flames.

Herb Carter and Harry Stanley had shed their gear and were taking a short break at the CP. Near them was a young Vietnamese boy, crying, with a bullet wound in his stomach.

Stanley watched one of Captain Medina's three radio operators walk along a trail toward them; he was without his radio gear.

As Stanley told the CID, the radio operator went up to Carter and said, "Let me see your pistol." Carter gave it to him. The radio operator "then stepped within two feet of the boy and shot him in the neck with a pistol. Blood gushed from the child's neck. He then tried to walk off, but he could only take two or three steps. Then he fell onto the ground. He lay there and took four or five deep breaths and then he stopped breathing."

The radio operator turned to Stanley and said, "Did you see how I shot that son of a bitch?" Stanley told him, "I don't see how anyone could just kill a kid." Carter got his pistol back; he told Stanley, "I can't take this no more..."

Moments later Stanley heard a gun go off and Carter yell, "I went to Carter and saw he had shot himself in the foot. I think Carter shot himself on purpose."

Other children were also last-minute targets. After the scene with the women and children, West noticed a small boy, about seven years old, staring dazedly beside a footpath. He had been shot in the leg. "He was just standing there staring; I don't think he was crying. Somebody asked, 'What do we do with him?'"

At this point West had remembered there had been an order from Medina to stop the shooting. "I just shrugged my shoulders," West recalled, "and said, 'I don't know' and just kept walking." Seconds later he heard some shots, turned around and saw the boy no longer standing on the trail.

HAEBERLE and Roberts were walking together on the edge of the hamlet when they also noticed the wounded child with the vacant stare. In seconds, Roberts said, "Haerberle, envisioning the war-torn-wounded-wail picture of the year, got within five feet of the kid for a close-up. He was focusing when some guy, just walking along, leveled his rifle, fired three times and walked away."

Haerberle saw the shooting through the lens of his camera. "He looked up in shock," Roberts added. "He just turned around and stared. I think that was the thing that stayed in our mind. It was so close, so real, we just saw some kid blown away."

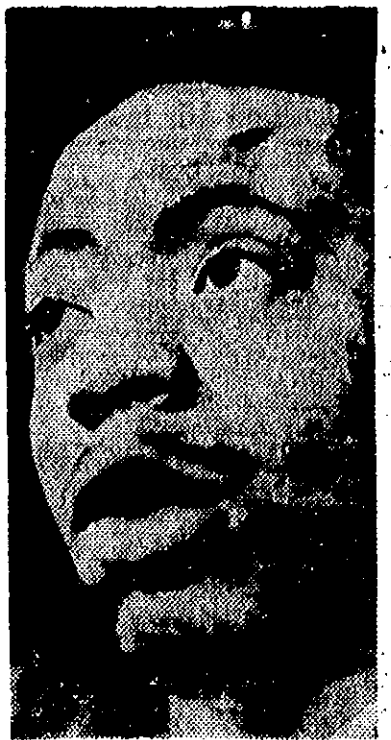

Some GIs didn't hesitate to use their bayonets. Nineteen-year-old Nguyen Thi Ngoc Tuyet watched a baby trying to open her slain mother's blouse to nurse. A soldier shot the infant while it was struggling with the blouse, and then slashed at it with his bayonet. Tuyet also said she saw another baby hacked to death by GIs wielding their bayonets.

Le Tong, a 28-year-old rice farmer, reported seeing one woman raped after GIs killed her children. Nguyen Khoa, a 37-year-old peasant, told of a 13-year-old girl who was raped before being killed. GIs then attacked Khoa's wife, tearing off her clothes. Before they could rape her, however, Khoa said, their 6-year-old son, riddled with bullets, fell and saturated her with blood. The GIs left her alone.

There were "degrees" of murder that day. Some were conducted out of sympathy. Michael Terry, a Mormon who was a squad leader in the third platoon, had ordered his men to take their lunch break by the bloody ditch in the rear of the hamlet.

He noticed that there were no men in the ditch, only women and children. He had watched Calley and the others shoot into that ditch. Calley seemed just like a kid, Terry thought. He also remembered thinking it was "just like a Nazi-type thing." When one soldier couldn't fire any more and threw down his weapon, "Calley picked it up."

Later, during lunch, Terry and his men saw that some of the victims were still breathing. "They were pretty badly shot up. They weren't going to get any medical help, and so we shot them, shot maybe five of them."

Most of the shooting was over by the time Medina called a break for lunch, shortly after 11 o'clock. By then Roberts and Haerberle had grabbed a helicopter and cleared out of the area, their story for the day far bigger than they wanted.

Calley, Mitchell, Sledge, Grzesik and a few others went back to the command post west of My Lai 4 to take lunch with Medina and the rest of his headquarters crew.

GRZESIK recalled that at that point he'd thought there couldn't be a survivor left in the village. But two little girls showed up, about 10 and 11 years old. John Paul said they came in from one of the paddies, where they apparently had waited out the siege. "We sat them down with us (at the command post)," Paul recounted, "and gave them some cookies and crackers to eat." When a CID interrogator later asked Charles Sledge how many civilians he thought had survived, he answered: "Only two small children who had lunch with us."

By nightfall the Viet Cong were back in My Lai 4, helping the survivors bury the dead. It took five days. Most of the funeral speeches were made by the Communist guerrillas. Nguyen Bat was not a Communist at the time of the massacre, but the incident changed his mind. "After the shooting," he said, "all the villagers became Communists."

When Army investigators reached the barren area in November, 1969, in connection with the My Lai probe in the U.S., they found mass graves at three sites, as well as a ditch full of bodies. It was estimated that between 450 and 500 people, most of them women, children and old men, had been slain and buried there.

Tomorrow: Victory.

OFFICER ORDERED 'TARGET PRACTICE'

By M. A. FARBER
New York Times Service

SAN FRANCISCO — An eyewitness to a shooting incident in South Vietnam that led Thursday to charges of attempted murder against two Army officers said Friday that he and other soldiers saw civilians moving around a cluster of huts in the Mekong Delta before the huts were fired on for "target practice."

The witness, Gary Owen Nordstrom, 21, of Folsom, is a former medic in South Vietnam. He said that he had seen the entire incident and that he gave his version of it to Army investigators last December.

On Friday, the Army announced in Washington that Capt. Vincent M.

CAPT. V. M. HARTMANN
Mekong Incident

Hartmann, 34, and 1st Lieut. Robert G. Lee Jr., 22, had been charged with a violation of the uniform code of military justice

"by ordering members of their command to fire into buildings used for human habitation."

Although the official Army statement contained few details, Pentagon sources said a woman was killed and her nephew wounded in the incident, which took place "on or about" last June 15. Pentagon sources were also said to have reported that an investigation indicated that the officers believed the huts were unoccupied at the time.

Nordstrom, however, said that Hartmann, who was charged with attempted murder, "definitely knew" that some huts were occupied by Vietnamese adults and children when he ordered his men to fire into the huts.

However, the 21-year-old former medic said that Hartmann ordered his men to withdraw from the area without going near the huts to survey any casualties.

Sources in the Pentagon said the soldiers had ceased firing when an old man ran out of one of the huts. The huts were then searched, according to this account, and two wounded Vietnamese were found. One of them, a woman, later died of her wounds, the sources said.

Nordstrom, a medic in Hartmann's company when the incident allegedly occurred, said the 40 or 50 soldiers involved never crossed a 30-foot river that separated them from the five or more huts and did not treat or remove any persons, wounded or dead.

Nordstrom said that, between volleys from the rifles, machineguns, anti-tank weapons and grenade launchers, "I could hear moaning and crying from the other side of the river. I wanted to go across and help and so did Lt. Lee but the lieutenant said there was nothing we could do."

The captain "definitely knew" that at least one of the huts was occupied as he directed the placement of the gunners' weapons, Nordstrom recalled.

"Hartmann could see people, I saw a man and a woman and two children, and one of the soldiers even told him before the firing that there were people there," Nordstrom said. "Hartmann said to fire anyway, that he had given an order."

HE SAID the shooting had occurred because Hartmann had wanted a "mad minute," which he described as an unplanned firing by the troops for target practice or to test their weapons.

Nordstrom related the incident, which he said occurred about 7 a.m. on the third day of a generally quiet search and destroy operation, in a four-hour interview at the home of relatives in a suburban community near here.

The former medic, discharged from the Army last month after a two-year stint in which he was awarded three Bronze Stars, served in Vietnam from April, 1969, to August, 1969 when his unit was withdrawn to Hawaii.

"I HATE to see something harsh happen to Hartmann, he's a family man and a career soldier," Nordstrom said. "But something's got to be done to stop this kind of thing from happening. I can't see letting something this grave ride."

In its announcement of charges against Hartmann and Lee, the Army provided few details of the incident. It noted, however, that an investigation had been ordered to determine whether the two men should be brought to trial by a general court martial. The maximum sentence for attempted murder is 20 years in prison, according to Pentagon sources.

Among the nations that have taken no position on the new government of Premier Lon Nol are the Soviet Union, Poland, France and Israel. Most Communist countries and leftist Arab governments are supporting Sihanouk, who formed a government in exile after he was ousted March 18.

Cambodia Upgrades Envoys to U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cambodia is raising diplomatic relations with the United States to ambassadorial level on its own initiative and is sending one of its top diplomats to Washington, Asian diplomatic sources said Friday.

The disclosure raised the question whether the United States would respond by sending an ambassador to Phnom Penh and thus strengthen ties with the Lon Nol regime at a delicate moment. Nixon Administration policy toward Cambodia is under critical scrutiny in various quarters and some countries have remained noncommittal toward the new government in Phnom Penh.

The sources, who are close to the Cambodian mission here, said the United States has agreed in principle to send an ambassador to Phnom Penh to succeed the present U.S. charge d'affaires, Lloyd M. Rives.

A State Department spokesman refused comment, and other U.S. officials said they knew of no plans to send an ambassador to Cambodia.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the deposed Cambodian chief of state, broke full diplomatic relations with the U.S. in May, 1965, and they were only resumed at the charge d'affaires level in mid-1969. The rupture followed a border incident and numerous charges that the U.S. was plotting against the Sihanouk regime.

The Asian diplomatic sources said Cambodia would make a formal announcement some time next week that it is elevating its U.S. mission to ambassadorial level and appointing Sonn Voeunsai, former ambassador to Paris, as ambassador.

Voeunsai, who was expected to arrive in Washington in early June, also has served as ambassador to the United Nations and has held several ministerial posts in earlier Cambodian governments.

The sources said Khim Tit, the Cambodian ambassador to the United Nations, initiated talks with U.S. officials on upgrading relations with the United States. He conferred in Washington recently with Marshall Green, assistant secretary of state for Asian affairs, and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, President Nixon's foreign affairs adviser, they said.

Cambodian foreign minister Yem Sambaur will visit Washington next month to further consolidate relations, the sources said.

Agnew Says U.S. Dissent Eases as 'Communication Lines' Open

MIAMI (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Friday he believes dissent between opposing factions in the United States is lessening "because we have opened lines of communication."

"When I say 'we,' I don't mean the government," Agnew told a news conference.

He explained that those recent dramatic rises in the stock market are not a valid sign of that upsurge.

He said the falls and rises of the stock market were "fluctuations" but he planned to return to Maryland after playing a round of golf with an old friend, former U.S. Sen. Harry P. Cain of Washington who now lives here.

The vice president arrived here Thursday spending the night at a Miami Beach hotel, who have been in disagreement were finding ways of talking over their differences and doing something about them.

Agnew predicted an upsurge in the U.S. economy by the last quarter of 1970, but indicated that the

Arrests Lead to Arsenal in Oakland

OAKLAND (UPI) — Police say the arrest of two Oakland men wearing theatrical makeup has led to discovery of chemicals capable of making explosives and an arsenal of rifles and ammunition.

One of the men, booked into jail in lieu of $100,000 bail, was Robert Stover, 25, hunted since Feb. 25, on a warrant charging murder and arson in connection with an incident in which a group of tenants allegedly beat up their landlord and set fire to a building, officers said.

Also in custody in lieu of $120,000 bond was Michael P. Lamm, 24. He was booked for investigation of harboring a criminal and obstructing justice. Police say he was driving a car that crashed Thursday into a police barricade following a chase along MacArthur Boulevard.

SDS Members Operating Bomb Factory, Seized

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police said they seized two members of the Weatherman faction of the Students for a Democratic Society Friday night operating what they said was a bomb factory on Manhattan's Upper West Side.

Found in the apartment on 103rd Street just off Central Park, police said, were pipe bombs, a loaded carbine and material for the manufacture of explosive devices, police said.

Police wearing bullet-proof vests and armed with search warrants pretended they were gas company employees in order to gain access to the apartment.

$138.8-Million Building OKd

Building permit activity in Los Angeles broke all records in May with a total of $138.3 million, Mayor Sam Yorty reported Friday.

Yorty said the surge apparently came from builders and developers who were rushing to beat the effective date of an ordinance imposing higher sewer connection fees.

This was only the third time in history that building permits in any one month have gone past the $100 million mark.

WORK, TOO, KENNEDY TELLS YOUTH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Friday that American youth ought to be working for the causes they believe in "and not just demonstrating."

"Their track record in terms of many of the things they've been interested in is not any better perhaps than some of the politicians or public officials of today," he declared.

"Protest has become too easy in our society, and if they've really got the interest now in doing something about this they ought to be registering blacks, they ought to be out working with drug addicts and the problems of the people in poverty, and they ought to be out electing the candidates that are committed to the cause of peace in Southeast Asia, and not just demonstrating."

Kennedy was interviewed on the NBC television network "Today."

"Tastes great with peanut butter, doesn't it?"

Sound at Disneyland

By BOB SANDERS Staff Writer

The Big Band Sound will reverberate through the late Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom again tonight when five of the nation's top big bands wind up a two-night stand.

The often imitated but still inimitable Sarah Vaughan leads a big band of followers through a repertoire of song stylings that astounds as well as entrances the listener.

For the people who haven't quite forgotten the 1940s, like the modern jazz forms but still want to be able to hear on Sunday morning Disneyland has provided Woody Herman and Buddy Rich as two accomplished technicians who cater to the modern beat.

Woody Herman and his smaller but just as adept group hit the big stride from the small stage of the Plaza Gardens.

For the big band buff who likes showmanship combined with superb technical mastery the perennial Lionel Hampton uses the rising-and-falling Tomorrowland Terrace stage as a platform for his special kind of drum buffoonery and vibraphony.

ALL IN ALL, the variety of the music and the quality of the presentation make for a very full evening's entertainment indeed.

BUDDY RICH AT DISNEYLAND

'Los Cantores' Uneven, Admirable; 'La Boheme' Meets High Standard

By DANIEL CARIAGA Music Critic

Concert-hopping is a practice professional listeners in places like Chicago, London, or New York can follow, thanks to short distances, staggered starting-times, and heavy scheduling, more or less regularly. Here, in the sprawling West, attending two events in one evening is less easily accomplished. Still, it can be done, on occasion.

I DID IT Thursday, and rather neatly, too, I thought. At 7:30, I went to the Long Beach Museum of Art to hear "Los Cantores del Camino Real," after the first half, I went to Community Playhouse and caught the entire last three acts of "La Boheme" by Pacific Opera Theatre's second cast.

"Los Cantores" is a chorale of 24 voices specializing in a repertoire centered about the music of early California.

Directed by Charles Trousdale, it is an amateur ensemble of mixed, uneven achievements, but admirable goals. Its offering of seven religious items from five distinct styles (and locales) reminded us what a great variety of music is available, the year around, and at no charge to the listeners, at our local Museum, thanks to the enlightened leadership there.

As reported here May 16, Pacific Opera Theatre's "La Boheme," which closes tomorrow afternoon, is a winner. And the mostly new cast I heard this Thursday meets the new standard the company set for itself a fortnight ago.

More important than the individual casting is the palpable feeling of ensemble one finds here; the young and good-looking singers really seem to like, and enjoy, each other; real hormones seem to be interacting between the boys and the girls. And the singing is solid.

A promising young singing actress; Ron Anderson was the new Schanard, also young and promising and firmly part of the ensemble. Joe Corellus (who sometimes seems to be playing Wozzeck) and Silvio Barto repeated their very healthy-sounding Rodolfo and Marcello, respectively.

Steve Sweetland alternates as Schanard and Colline, and sang the latter role this time, though wearing his costume as the former. The costume didn't matter, however, for the characterization was right: this Colline is serious, faceted, and manly, and the Coat Song projected these qualities clearly — refreshingly, too, for it was sung without the affected sentimentality and vocal gruffness we have come to associate with this moment.

More about "Boheme" Monday, after I hear the third cast.

CSLB Tells Vandal Cost

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

The last day of classes at California State College at Long Beach ended quietly Friday, although administrators estimate vandals may have caused an average $100 per day in damages during the past three weeks.

Vandalism included paint splattered on campus walls and sculptures, an ammonia gassing and several small "stinkbombs," and a scattering of small trash-can fires in lavatories and grounds.

As final exams begin Monday, maintenance crews will continue cleaning up paint and ink spots.

The same gray paint dumped on the school's Forty-Niner statue has also been splattered on at least two of the massive outdoor sculptures rendered in the 1965 International Sculpture Symposium.

ADMINISTRATORS SAY THAT one giant symposium mural, an outdoor painting by artist Rita Letendre, will have to undergo extensive retouching.

No buildings have been evacuated after stinkbomb chemicals have been splashed on campus walls. Most of the chemicals were fairly ineffective, administrators say.

They said, however, that one secretary in the humanities office building was nearly overcome by ammonia fumes when the chemical was released in an elevator shaft Wednesday.

Targets for "stinkbombs" and paint attacks have included the administration building, faculty office buildings, classrooms and lavatories.

So far, none of the vandals has been caught in the act, administrators say. It is not known whether they are students or non-students.

L.B. STUDENT WILL BE CADET

An 18-year-old Long Beach honor student and star athlete has accepted a nomination to the U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colorado, it was announced Friday.

Kelly Kemp, of 121 Belmont Ave., who was nominated by Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, will report to the academy June 20, a spokesman for Hosmer's office said.

Kemp, who will be graduated in June from Wilson High School, has an academic career highlighted by membership in Phi Beta Kappa, the National Honor Society, and the high school's 4.0 Club and Key Club.

A member of the water polo and swimming teams at Wilson, Kemp this year received all-Moore League rating and the Independent Press-Telegram all-city award for his swimming accomplishments. He was recently awarded ed the Naval Junior ROTC Outstanding Scholar trophy for the third consecutive year at Wilson, and is a recipient of the Rear Adm. George J. McMillin Award.

City Parks Plan 'Pop Art' Shows

A real "Pop Art" exhibit is in preparation at city playgrounds.

Youngsters are being invited to create portraits of their "pop" for a Father's Day exhibition, to be displayed June 15-21 at the Broadway department store in Los Altos Shopping Center.

Because of the response by the youngsters to a similar, "Portrait of My Mom," exhibit in early May, the Recreation Department was invited by Seymour Abt, manager of the Broadway, to stage a display for Father's Day.

Where Yesterday Speaks To Today

The woman and child are alone, but the husband and father they loved and lost has the company of his comrades. The nation's heroes share the earth hallowed by their sacrifice and guarded by the Flag for which they fell. It is quiet in the cemetery — so still one can hear yesterday speak to today. Remembering becomes a prayer of love whispered into eternity from the cathedral of the heart. Those who search the cemetery in quest of what they have lost convey the true meaning of Memorial Day, 1970.

MEDIA DEVELOP AWARENESS

Black Teaching Tools

By VERN SMITH
Staff Writer

Instructors in a "Black Awareness" workshop held Friday at Poly High School suggested the utilization of black music, poetry, art and literature as unique media for developing self-awareness and self-respect among black high school and junior high students.

THE THREE-HOUR session, conducted by Voices Educational Service, Inc., and coordinated through the Long Beach Unified School District and Commission on Economic Opportunities, drew a crowd of some 50 persons, mostly from agencies in the anti-poverty field.

Voices Educational Service, Inc., is the consultant arm of Voices, Inc., an award-winning group of singers-actors from New Jersey, which specializes in tracing the history of black America through songs and narrative prose. Jesse DeVore, president of Voices, Inc., said previous studies have shown that use of the concepts in the class room can also foster a new positive attitude on the part of white students toward their black classmates.

Gwen Simmons, a musical instructor and performer, told the mostly white audience that utilization of black music, such as gospel, spirituals and blues, as a teaching tool for black history "presents a view of the black experience that you could not get from a book."

She said that while many whites have dismissed songs from the slavery era as meaningless "black dialect," in reality the songs were a clever coding system used by slaves as a method of communication.

DeVore said it is more realistic for teachers to use works from black writers and poets in teaching literature to black students.

He said the poem "We Real Cool," by Gwen Brooks, and the works of such black poets as James Weldon Johnson, Langston Hughes and Paul Laurence Dunbar have more meaning to black students than the works of William Shakespeare.

THE VOICES, Inc., instructors utilized the audience-participation techniques used in their theatrical productions in conducting the workshop.

In what was obviously a new experience for many in the audience, Miss Simmons led them in hand-clapping African beats and chants.

Although the workshop was intended as a type of "sensitivity" training for Long Beach school teachers, few teachers were present.

An elementary school teacher said he had expected more teachers from Poly and other central area schools which have large black enrollments.

Harbor Engineer to Be Speaker

Lawrence A. Whiteneck, chief engineer for the Los Angeles Harbor Department, will be the principal speaker during the Maritime Industries Luncheon Wednesday to be held in the Mary Star of the Sea Auditorium in San Pedro.

Whiteneck's topic will be "Los Angeles Harbor Looks Ahead."

The luncheon, prepared by John Sawyer and served by the Town and Country Catholic Women's Club, is open to the public.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. George Scott will be the host, and John J. Parkinson, assistant general manager of the Port of Los Angeles will preside at the affair.

Norwalk Library Dedication June 13

Norwalk's new $131,900 Alondra Branch Library, 11949 E. Alondra Blvd., will be dedicated at 9:30 a.m. June 13, Mayor Bob White said Friday.

Participating in the ceremony will be Supervisor Frank G. Bonelli and William S. Geller, county librarian and members of the Norwalk City Council. The Excelsior High School wind ensemble, directed by John Prince will provide music. Open house and refreshments will be served following the dedication.

The 6,000-square-foot facility, second library in the city, was financed by the city of Norwalk and will be leased to Los Angeles County on a long-term basis. Approximately 5,000 books and periodicals will be available in the single story structure.

Classified Ad Found a Home

House-hunting was a chore for Mrs. Marie Bartlett and her husband, of 718 E. Third St., until they let an Independent Press-Telegram classified ad do the work for them.

Mrs. Bartlett explains: "We received nine calls and chose the first place we saw. It was charming. Our thanks to I, P-T classifieds for the help."

Don't wear yourself out looking for a home. Put an I, P-T classified ad to work for you by calling HE 2-2959.

Boat Stolen

Marion C. Akin, 5585 Corso Di Napoli, told Long Beach police Friday his Chris Craft boat and engine valued at $2,505 was stolen from a private dock outside his home by burglars who cut a chain to effect removal.

$117,000 FINES UNPAID

Crackdown at Library

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

City librarians have been urged to get tougher with patrons who fail to return books or who run up large fines without paying.

During the past four years, the total value of such missing books and delinquent fines was more than $117,000, City Auditor Murray T. Courson said Friday.

Courson suggested a two-point system to crack down on "major delinquents":

1. The library should compile a list of all patrons owing "significant amounts," and distribute it to all branch libraries.

2. The library card should be redesigned to provide for annual validation.

When a patron came in for the annual validation, Courson explained, the librarian could check the delinquency list to see if his name was on it. If not, the card would be validated. If so, it would be withdrawn.

"Library privileges should be suspended until the delinquent account is resolved," the auditor said.

Courson emphasized his office is "certainly not talking about delinquencies of 25 cents, 50 cents, or even a dollar."

Much of the $117,000 over the past four years involves "hundreds of individuals," Courson said, but there are many large amounts owed.

Courson said the library has been taking steps to collect fines and amounts due for books not returned, but said he believes the effort should be intensified.

Accounts in excess of $10 should be turned over to the city's Central Collection Section for subsequent follow-up, or to the Long Beach Credit Association, he said.

Courson conceded the Public Library has a more difficult problem with delinquent accounts than many other city departments. If a boat owner fails to pay his slip rental at Long Beach Marina, for example, he can be forced to remove his boat. The library can only withhold library privileges.

City Librarian Frances Henselman is studying possible ways of following the audit suggestions, Courson said.

LEGION SLATES MEMORIAL RITE

Memorial Day observances in Long Beach today will be highlighted by a 1:30 p.m. program in the Municipal Auditorium's concert hall. Rep. Craig Hosmer will be keynote speaker.

The event is being sponsored by Arthur L. Peterson Post 27 of the American Legion, with the cooperation of the city of Long Beach.

Music will be provided by the Long Beach Municipal Band 1:30 to 2 p.m., with the speech by Hosmer, R-Long Beach, following.

Three ships will be used for Memorial Day observances at the Long Beach Naval Station.

The older USS Wichita will be host to the Fleet Reserve Association and Sea-Land Cadets at 10 a.m.

At 11 a.m., there will be memorial services aboard the aircraft carrier USS Ticonderoga, under the sponsorship of American Legion Navy Post 278.

Submarine Veterans of World War II will hold services aboard the sub USS Roncador, when a flower will be dropped overboard for each of the 52 U.S. submarines lost during the war.

ONLY THE BEST

Tests for Summer Lifeguards Slated

Summer jobs for swimmers will be up for grabs next Saturday.

Tests for seasonal jobs as Long Beach lifeguards will be conducted, starting at 9 a.m., in front of lifeguard headquarters at the west end of the beach parking lot at the foot of Junipero Avenue.

The jobs are open to men aged 18 through 28 years, who are at least 5 feet 8 inches tall and weigh a minimum of 150 pounds. They must be in "excellent" physical condition, with at least 20-30 vision.

Lifeguard Chief John Olaszewski said the tests will consist of a 1,000-meter ocean swim and an 800-meter run-swim-run.

APPLICANTS SHOULD report to lifeguard headquarters to fill out an application some time prior to next Saturday. The office is open daily from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The jobs available will be for the summer only. The starting salary is $3.32 an hour.

State's Planners

Slate Conference

Richard Weaver, Santa Fe Springs planning director, will serve as program committee chairman at the Institute for Planning Commissioners to be held at Disneyland Hotel Wednesday through Friday.

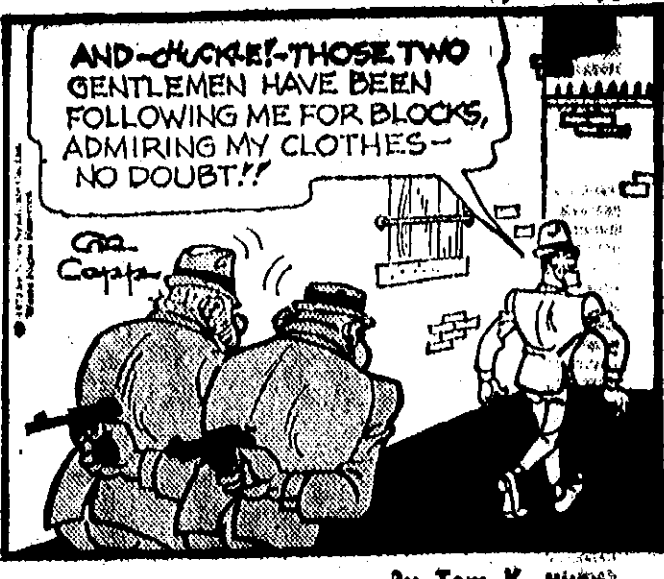

The institute, sponsored by the League of California Cities, is expected to draw some 500 planning commissioners from all parts of the state.

YOUR HOROSCOPE
by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: Your coming year includes three phases: The early months bring better luck in material concerns, according to your talents and circumstances. Three months or so of experiments and changes which offer abundant opportunity for gaining more knowledge of your self and your potential. Finally, a consolidation phase. Today's natives prove that mind can prevail over matter.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your mind is more important this Sunday than your muscles. Make full use of it as you arise early for your share of community and family customs.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Support and enjoy the institutions of your local society. Make the rounds; see what progress is under way in your neighborhood.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Physical exertion is not favored, but mental and emotional stimuli abound. Life can be really enjoyable under today's conditions. A temptation to spend on trifles exists.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Dedicate your whole Sunday to the welfare and enjoyment of family and friends. Take them along on visits, or receive guests at home.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): So long as you are careful about money and its impulsive use, this can be a memorable time. There is the fun of exploring an interesting new planet.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your expectations may be exceeded today. Wear your favorite outfit, make an appearance early, inquire about your friends and their ventures.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): There is a day of pleasant experiences before you go off on your own. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): There is bound to be a bit of opposition to anything you propose now, so, just be patient and work it out. Otherwise, this is a day of pleasant experiences.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Hobbies, new clothes, creative expressions, good humor, all have their share in your activities today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Your home and personal life promise to brighten up considerably today. Expand your activities without putting yourself to excessive physical exertion.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Take the morning off. Meditate on what you have achieved in life spiritually, and make a few resolutions. Then go out and see how the community is up to.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Please, sure, ask about expenses this Sunday. Everything else stems in good order and reasonable balance.

Services Set for Max Horowitz

Services will be held Monday at 11 a.m. in Motell's Chapel for Max J. Horowitz, former "chaplain" of the Naval Shipyard who logged 5,000 hours of volunteer work in veterans' hospitals. He died last Sunday, aged 80.

A native of Poland, he enlisted in the U.S. Army during World War I and served as a sergeant. Later, he was the only Jewish member of an all Irish Catholic fire department unit in New York.

Mr. Horowitz' career also included a stint with the now defunct Brooklyn Eagle, he managed wrestlers and prize fighters, and was a spear carrier in the Metropolitan Opera. In World War II, he was a rigger in East Coast shipyards.

He came to Long Beach in 1951 and was elected chaplain of the shipyard. One Roman Catholic veteran, an amputee with heart trouble, whom Mr. Horowitz befriended and wheeled to mass every Sunday, left him several thousand dollars in his will. Mr. Horowitz used the money to buy TV sets and transistor radios for paraplegics and other shut-ins in the Navy Hospital.

He retired in 1959 with 1,001 hours of unused sick leave.

A prayer he composed on love of God and country was entered in the Congressional Record. The Sam Clements Daughters of the American Revolution honored him as the "Most Outstanding Foreigner to Become an American Citizen."

He was a member of the Men's Guild of the Carmelites Sisters, and the American Legion of Laguna Hills.

Surviving are his wife, Eugenia B. of Hemet, where the couple made their home the past two years; a stepson, Donald E. Zweifel of Newport Beach; and brothers, Louis and William of New York.

Temple to Honor Guthman June 21

Rabbi Sidney S. Guthman, spiritual leader of Temple Sinai, will be honored at a testimonial dinner sponsored by the temple's Israel bond committee at 6:30 p.m. June 21.

The dinner will be held in the social hall of the temple, Seventh Street at Molino Avenue, and will be preceded by a social hour.

Cochairmen for the dinner are Emery Rubin, Hy Sunshine, Murray Levin and Stanley V. Goldin, members of the temple's board of directors.

Rabbi Guthman has been at Temple Sinai since 1959. The dinner will simultaneously celebrate his 21st year in the pulpit, the 20th anniversary of the Israel bond organization, and the 22nd anniversary of the founding of the state of Israel.

Seal Beach to Show Eisenhower Painting

First showing of an unusual sand painting of the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, which eventually will be placed in Seal Beach's Eisenhower Park, is scheduled for Wednesday noon at a luncheon sponsored by the Seal Beach Republican Federated Women's Club.

The painting, made of sand gathered from all 50 states, was made by David Villaseñor of Azusa, who will be present to explain the ancient art of sand painting.

The luncheon honoring the 34th president of the United States will be held at the Marine Community Center, 151 Marina Drive, Seal Beach.

The portrait will be formally dedicated at the park at the foot of Main Street on Ocean Boulevard on the former president's birthday, Oct. 14, according to Mrs. Frank Clinton, president of the sponsoring organization.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by writing the club at P.O. Box 215, Seal Beach.

ST. ANTHONY EXERCISES WEDNESDAY

Some 240 students will be graduated from St. Anthony's School during annual commencement exercises at the Long Beach Auditorium Wednesday night.

Nicholas Trani, 17, has been selected as student speaker for the event.

The graduation ceremonies will be held 7 to 9 p.m. at the auditorium, 270 E. Seaside Blvd.

BRIEFLY...

Reply to Reader On Criticism of Israel

By LES RODNEY

Reader E.L., referring to our "Reporter's Notebook" about the ambush murder of Israeli school children, says he also denounces such acts, but asks "Why don't you ever criticize Israel for some of its actions?"

Since we have often been critical of some Israeli policies, in print, this is an impossible question to answer, and we almost dismissed it impatiently. But maybe E. L. is a new reader of this paper.

So — while backing Israel's right to exist and defend herself against extermination attempts (as in June, 1967), as well as her right to hit back against cowardly terrorism directed against unarmed civilians, we have written critically of Israeli reluctance to accept full moral responsibility for the displaced Palestinian refugees.

We think it is possible to be pro-Israel and pro-Arab, in brief, pro-humanity, and in fact think that is the only direction out of the Middle East tragedy.

We think the Israeli government is making a terrible, incredible mistake in its announced plans to settle hundreds of Jews at Hebron, an ancient Arab city in the occupied West Bank. We sent this strong sentiment last week to the executive director of the American Zionist Council in New York, a nice guy whom we met during a recent tour of 36 American editors, publishers, journalists, TV and radio people to the Holy Land. We hope he'll see fit to pass it along to someone in the Israeli government for whatever good American journalistic opinion might do.

We said we couldn't understand how any possible short range gain could compensate for the rasping of Arab sensitivities, fanning suspicions of permanent annexation designs, and worsening the psychological climate, when exactly the opposite path has to be the precondition for starting to end the bitterness.

We think all American friends of Israel, while supporting her in her gallant fight for survival against fearful historic odds, should also be critical, not uncritical friends on such questions. In addition to being the moral and principled thing to do, we think such friendly criticism is a practical service to Israel. Because the peace and security that everyone yearns for is not going to be attained finally by military superiority, real or imagined, but rather by generous and creative moves toward brotherhood.

Now — to be fair and objective about this, one more thing should be mentioned. The question of settling Hebron (and other debatable policies of the Israeli government) is the subject of open and vigorous debate within Israel. This is a tribute to an open society in a state of siege. Can anyone detect one peep of mild questioning of the very questionable policies of Nasser and co. within Egypt, Syria or Jordan?

MOST PROTESTANT denominations, and for the first time the Roman Catholic Church, have entered a period of slight decline in membership, figures show. Since the peak of 1964, when 64.4 per cent of Americans were church members, the proportion has fallen 1.3 per cent. However, rumormongering back in a bit in the figures one finds that American church membership is still on a historic high plateau, standing far above the mere 16 per cent of the citizenry that belonged to churches in 1850, and the 36 per cent of 1900.

I suppose in some ways ours is an average church, no frills, nothing fancy. We do not know better how to run our country than do our elected leaders. We do not have the final answer for Viet Nam and Cambodia, the Middle East, student unrest, the generation gap. Nor do we talk much about such subjects in our Sunday services.

Instead, we talk about some things we do know, and that without question: the love of God, the adequacy of His Christ, the blessings of fellowship with Him.

If you have a problem, if you are lonely or discouraged, wondering what life is all about, come worship with us tomorrow. We may not have the answer, but we will introduce you to One who does.

INTERVIEW WITH POPULAR L.B. PRIEST

Priests Leave, But Many More Stay, and Not All 'Stodgy Old Unmovables'

By LES RODNEY

These are the days of articles about priests leaving the Roman Catholic Church.

It doesn't make many headlines, but these are also the days of priests staying.

"...and not by any means all stodgy old unmovables," says the Rev. Frank Meskill, with a smile.

One of Long Beach's vibrant younger priests, Father Meskill is assistant pastor at St. Anthony's and instructor in ethics at the girls' high school. Young people think he's terrific, and his occasional sermons at the Sunday Mass have proven conversation starters for all ages.

A native of Dublin, with the meditative, literary eloquence of the Irish intellectual in his speech, the pipe-smoking educator talked about the turbulent state of things in and out of the church in a recent interview between classes.

"OUR PEOPLE have suffered a great deal," he said. "One can feel the loneliness. The revolution of the times has wounded them."

Sometimes, he added with a touch of sadness, "we're not aware of what we're doing, what we're undoing."

In a time of transition, he believes, "a priest must be a herald of hope."

"He must stand aside, interpret events and social change, and not be a nay sayer."

Above all, it seems elementary to Father Meskill that the priest must remain where his people are.

"People are stable. For the most part they will accept change, they will absorb new ideas, but slowly. Undigested innovation will not suffice."

"The average person has been scourged from every side, made a whipping boy," he continued with animation, his empathetic identification with others showing clearly on his mobile face. "So many are told they're wrong, wrong, but nobody seems to give them hope."

Rather than being impatient with some people Father Meskill is impatient with those who are impatient. He spoke of two of the central characters in James Joyce's "Finnegan's Wake," one of whom "takes the cards dealt him, settles for a womb-like security. The other is the idea man, the seer. His kind is usually recognized a generation later. There is a place for both."

On a Sunday morning, he suggested, "we're dealing with the majority of people, who bear history forward at their own pace. A priest cannot be utopian or apocalyptic."

He shrugged. "You can get on a bandwagon and make headlines. I like to see changes. But any student of history knows that it does not happen that way. The politician resorts to the expedient for the moment. The priest cannot be short range. He cannot be a 'nowist.'"

None of which is to say that Father Meskill is one who thinks everything in the church used to be just great, and that if the Vatican Council hadn't rocked the boat things would be fine. On the contrary.

"FAITH IS a gift of God," he observed slowly, "and religion is the mechanism by which this precious gift is expressed in the world. Now the world changes, so we must change."

"We're feeling it more in the Catholic Church, perhaps," he added with candor. "There was a logjam of centuries. We had a sort of siege mentality. Our own technical, 'in' language. Now we are opening up. We are relating more. I think these changes are genuine. Old prejudices are not what they were."

A chaplain at Cal Tech before coming to Long Beach, Father Meskill does his own bit for "relating." Recently, he traveled the few streets that were once a million miles, from St. Anthony's to St. Luke's Episcopal, where he was an informal sermon speaker.

The Catholic Church needed a jolt, he holds, and the results, used creatively and sensitively, can only help and deepen its mission to the new generation.

"The church for so long ignored Freud, Marx, race, the atomic age, automation," he says. "But we speak to people. They come to us with questions from that world."

FR. MESKILL
Mystique Is Gone

Flashy rhetoric cannot provide the answers, he emphasized. "We have to grapple with the gut issues."

It is precisely in this challenging area of today's issues, he holds, that today's priest must find his greatest reason for being. By definition, he sees the priest as a mediator.

"THE PRIEST," he says, "must be able to move between the polarizing elements in our society and hold out that Christian hope which can reconcile those on the right as well as those on the left, who are neither hearing each other nor expressing any desire to work with each other."

The subject of priests who depart in these pressure-filled days has to be a painful one for their brother priests who stay. Father Meskill doesn't blast the departees. He says this:

"Yes, a number of priests, for reasons we must respect, have chosen to seek other fields than the priesthood. We know that for most of them the decision was an agonizing one, profound and prolonged. We are grateful for their years of service to the church, and in a spirit of Christian love our heart goes out to them."

The St. Anthony priest appreciates the idealistic quality of today's young people, without automatically investing them with all ultimate wisdom because their hearts may be pure.

"The new generation of Catholics," he noted, "like young people everywhere today, is alive, dynamic, courageous and generous. They want no pat answers. No ready-made solutions. No external conformity as a substitute for genuine conviction and personal involvement. They don't want to sit around and listen. They want to speak out — and to be heard sympathetically."

"IT IS sometimes hard to negotiate with them," he added with a touch of wryness, "because they sometimes seem to feel that the mere repetition of what they consider true will eventually carry the day. They seem so eager to make almost any question a matter of principle that one is tempted to feel they are looking for a fight — though perhaps they are only looking for a cause. With some exceptions, they are not intentionally disobedient or disrespectful of authority. As a matter of fact they are appalled when their honesty is taken as disrespect and their desire to discuss is understood as disobedience."

The tensions caused by new ways colliding with traditional total life styles are not easy for non-Catholics to fully appreciate.

The older generation, Meskill points out, "learned a reverence for authority in a spirit of obedience which made it un-Christian to challenge orders, decisions and regulations handed down by authority, even those they couldn't understand or didn't like."

"They may not easily understand this new generation," he added, "but as a priest I feel I must be a bridge between the generations."

"I see God's providence at work in the new generation. I see only tragedy in trying to turn back the clock to a safer, more secure, more clearly defined, more authoritative, more easily controlled-from-on-top attitude."

HE SMILED. "Of course, age has nothing to do with it. Pope John was no youngster. Yet, he helped to open the windows and the doors which had been closed for centuries. It might have been more comforting behind the closed doors, sure that we alone were right, but we have passed a turning point in history."

The priest, he believes, ideally should see the past as a carpet rolling into the future.

"We must liberate ourselves from history, conscious of what it has taught it, but free to adapt what we have learned to the present. The traditionalist is often imprisoned by history."

"The major contribution of Vatican Council II was the move from structure to values. We need systems, but we do not need binding chains."

There is no return to the "good old days," he emphasized, and added this comment on confusions of values:

"The new generation has to learn that new and old are not the same as good and bad, just as the older generation has to learn that a thing isn't necessarily wrong because we never did it that way."

In the final analysis, he insists, "there is no progress without change and no renewal without changes."

The church remaining but always reforming. And within the church remaining: "Certainly we need idea men to spark the others along."

AS AN educator, Father Meskill does not dismiss out of hand all the criticism of today's students for the state of education.

"There IS a good deal of irrelevance in much of today's education. So much of it is technology-oriented. Enough of it is not person-oriented. Even poetry — the mechanics of it are taught, not the beauty surging through."

"Take the IQ system, it's almost as though a child below a certain IQ level is branded a non-achiever!" He shook his head. "One can feel the

He doesn't pretend to have all the answers to the problems associated with youth. "These great revolutionary events change the complexion of society," he observes. "The age has tended to break down true communication with the young. Family life is not what it was. Older people are lonely."

These, he believes, are also questions for the priest-teacher to address himself to, armed with "the revolutionary doctrine of Christianity. In relationship with people, God is found."

In the midst of all the stir, Father Meskill sees a positive involvement in the relationship of the priest to his communicants.

"For so long," he says, "we had security just in being priests. Now, since Vatican II, we are in a real position to identify with people."

He likes the line "I should like to ring true" in Andre Gide's "The Counterfeiters." "A person should ring true," says the priest.

"Let the priest come off his tower to the level of man, and people are going to say 'Listen, I don't agree with you on that.' That's good. They see our

Plan Forum

The monthly forum of Church Women United of Long Beach next Friday at Silverado United Methodist Church will hear Mrs. Ann Sherman Gores, Western regional director for Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Mrs. Glen Welin of East Side Christian Church will bring the brief worship service. All women are invited to the forum, starting with coffee at 9:30 a.m. at the church, 2990 Delta Ave.

Farewell to Pastor

Trinity Lutheran Church, 11507 Studebaker Road, Norwalk will bid farewell to Pastor and Mrs. Jacob J. Schick Sunday at the 9 and 10:30 a.m. services, with a coffee hour following. Pastor Schick has resigned to accept a post as Chaplain at Southland Lutheran Home.

FROM THE PULPIT

The instability of the world we live in brings us to a place of utter despair. Could it be that such turmoil is but the mercy of God urging us to flee to Him?

There is a place of refuge and security even in the midst of the most troubling circumstances. The person who has the most insight into the world's problems is the one who views them through God's Word. God's people are not perplexed by current events. Their hearts instead are made glad with the ever approaching prospect of His coming again.

If you would have peace of heart and mind, why not come to Christ? He has the answer to the greatest question of your life! What must I do to be saved? Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

CONFIDENT LIVING

Pessimistic? Be Glad You're Alive

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Be glad you're alive! I can just hear a lot of my readers saying to themselves, "What, in this day and age?" I told a friend of mine a few days ago he should be glad to be alive. He's a rather negative, dismal-minded individual in the first place. But I didn't expect quite so eloquent an explosion as the one I got.

"How can you say, 'Be glad you're alive' at a time like this?" Then he proceeded to recite all the reasons why all of us should wish we were well out of this world right now. "Why," he said, "don't you know we are tied down in Asia for a long time to come and in Europe? We're going to have to keep troops there for years. And taxes keep going up and prices are skyrocketing. And we may be in the middle of a recession."

AND THEN, for good measure, he added, "Haven't you been keeping up on the thousands of American kids that are hooked on drugs? And we have people bombing banks and other buildings for no particular reason except that they don't like things the way they are? And yet you ask me to be glad that I'm alive!"

"Well," I said to him, "have you considered the alternative?" Now, that's not very original, but I think it is very appropriate for all of us to think about at the present moment. In this world we are always going to have trouble and tribulation. The founding fathers of this country, when they wrote the Declaration of Independence, didn't offer an

ORDINATION

Edward L. Volz, associate pastor-elect of First Orthodox Presbyterian Church, 500 E. San Antonio Drive, will be ordained to the gospel ministry and formally installed in a service Friday, 7:30 p.m. at the church. An assistant for the past year, he will devote his efforts to working among children, youth and their parents. He is a native Southern Californian and graduate of USC and Westminster Theological Seminary.

Southland Clergy in Peace Service

Hundreds of clergymen and members of all faiths are expected to gather Sunday at 4 p.m. for an Inter-Religious service for peace in Southeast Asia to be held at First United Methodist Church, 8th and Hope Streets, Los Angeles.

The service is sponsored by the Committee of Religious Concern for Peace Now, a group which recently issued a statement on the war in Indochina, deploring American involvement in Cambodia and calling for support of congressional action to cut off funds for the war unless the war is officially declared by Congress.

The Committee lists as the purposes of the May 31 service:

To remember and mourn all the dead and wounded of the Indo-China war; To remember and mourn the dead and wounded students at Kent State, Jackson State and elsewhere; To dedicate ourselves to end the Indo-China War; To dedicate ourselves to end violence and injustice at home.

Clergymen will gather at St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral at 3:30 p.m. and proceed to the Methodist Church for the service.

The Committee is chaired by Methodist Bishop Gerald Kennedy. Its membership includes representatives of Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish denominations or groups, as well as the leaders of the Council of the Los Angeles Council of Churches.

Family-Marital Counsel Wins Church Approval

In the belief that present-day pressures have added to the need for such a ministry, a Lakewood church has brought onto its pastoral staff a family and marital counselor, and reports good results.

Rev. John H. Stendahl, an ordained clergyman of the American Lutheran Church, is now at St. Timothy Lutheran, 5840 Arbor Road. He received specialized training in psychology and counseling at the University of Minnesota and the American Institute of Family Relations in Los Angeles.

His emphasis, he says, is upon preventive and cautionary counseling. "I believe that the ministry of the Gospel is a ministry of reconciliation, not only between a person and God but also between persons and with families," he said.

"Usually," he adds, "we begin our attempts in helping people at the wrong end. Rather than trying to bind up wounds we should be working toward prevention of inter-personal injuries." Part of his work, he explains, is in small group sessions, preparing young people for marriage, and clinics for married couples.

The senior minister, Rev. Gerhard L. Belgum, says that the new ministry has been well received and "has already proved valuable to many. We view it not only for crisis situations. In a society so full of pressures, a counselor like Mr. Stendahl can help many to understand more

EVOLUTION, SCIENCE, BIBLE 4-DAY TOPIC

A scientist-preacher whose lectures on evolution, science and the Bible have attracted much interest will appear in Long Beach next week for a four-night discussion at Uptown Church of Christ, 3707 Atlantic Ave.

Dr. H. Douglas Dean, Ph.D., professor of biology at Pepperdine College, will present a series of lectures on "Evolution — The Missing Link Discovered," Monday through Thursday nights at 7:30. Following the one-hour talks each night will be a 30-minute session for questions from the audience. The public is invited without charge.

In addition to heading Pepperdine's biology department, Dr. Dean is minister for the York Boulevard Church of Christ in Los Angeles.

He is one of five scientists selected by the California Legislature to help write the specifications to be used by textbook writers in preparing science textbooks for the state school system. This will include, by law, the Biblical account of creation.

Dr. Dean has served as head of the biology department at Abilene (Tex.) Christian College, and holds B.S., M.S. and Ph.D.

degrees in biology from the University of Alabama.

Dr. Hugh Tiner, minister of the Uptown church, says Dean's lectures at Amarillo, Tex., last month drew overflow crowds of 3,000 nightly. "Skeptics came on the stage after Dr. Dean's address and expressed surprise and new respect at the strength of the Biblical position on creation," said Tiner. "For the first time they realized the creation account can be defended by more than a shouting, Bible-waving William Jennings Bryan attack."

Filipino Head of Lutherans Speaks Here

Rev. Alvaro A. Carino, president of the Lutheran Church in the Philippines, will be guest speaker at First Lutheran Church, 905 Atlantic Ave., at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. services.

A native Filipino, of the same tribal group as President Marcos, he was educated in the United States and returned to the Philippines as a missionary just two days after independence was celebrated in 1946. He is one of First Lutheran's seven "adopted missionaries."

In addition to heading the Lutheran Church, he is a member of the seminary faculty at Baguio City, a speaker on the Philippine Lutheran Hour, and a teacher of geography in his country's equivalent of West Point.

He is in this country to attend a meeting at St. Louis in June of the heads of the newer national churches affiliated with the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Witnesses Baptize New Ministers in L.B. Today

Nine Long Beach congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses, engaged in a three-day Bible seminar, will hear a talk today by Circuit Supervisor Leland G. Erskine on "Dedication and Baptism" in the Kingdom Hall at 1608 at 1608 Pacific Ave.

This will be followed at 1 p.m. by baptism of new ministers.

All will convene at 7 p.m. in the Assembly Hall, 3341 E. 43rd Place, Los Angeles for discussions and demonstrations on conducting Bible studies.

Sunday at 3 p.m., Floyd F. Garrett, district supervisor, will speak at the Assembly Hall "Withstanding the Pressures of Our day."

The public is invited to all sessions by James Boyd, Long Beach convention manager, who says "We extend an invitation to hear the Bible's answer to the problems facing mankind today." No collections will be taken, he added.

Servicemen Center Open

The Victory Servicemen's Center, hosted by Rev. Norman W. Nichols, chaplain, has moved to 125 E. First St. and held a successful grand opening in its new location last week.

The center has become popular with servicemen since it opened in May, 1968 on 10th Street, moving to 237 First St. later. The building was sold, and the new location was obtained, and fixed up with a lot of enthusiastic volunteer work by servicemen and staff hostesses, Rev. Nichols reports.

The center, he says, provides a friendly atmosphere, including the hostesses, games, free food, a TV lounge, writing room, ping pong "and Christian inspiration."

A free pancake breakfast is offered to servicemen every Sunday morning from 8 to 9 a.m.

Church Personnel Data System Set

A church personnel data system will be developed as the result of a $137,000 grant from the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, it was announced in New York by Rev. Charles N. Forsberg for the National Council of Churches.

Forsberg heads the NCC's Department of Ministry committee which initiated the project.

Auction to Benefit KCET Scheduled

By GEORGE ERIES
TV-Radio Editor

If you like auctions and are interested in helping out KCET, you can satisfy both urges starting at 1 p.m. Sunday, and continuing for hours through June 6.

The on-the-air marathon auction's first day will find celebrity auctioneers calling for bids for art works and antiques in the 1 to 8 p.m. program, on Ch. 28. The auction moves "The Advocates" to 9 p.m., and there will be program shifts and preemptions throughout the week to take care of auction business.

STARTING Monday and running through June 5, the auction will be carried from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. On June 6, bidding will begin at 4:30 p.m. and continue to 1 a.m. Ch. 7 will simulcast, with Ch. 28, the first 30 minutes of the auction on this date.

Merchandise to be offered on the second and continuing days of the auction includes a 1923 Model T Ford, a 16-foot Danish teakwood sailboat, a thoroughbred horse, TV sets, refrigerators, stereo sets, bicycles, sporting goods, furniture, clothing, a suit of armor, a stop-and-go signal light and other items.

Celebrity auctioneers will include Barbara Eden, Diane Baker, Robert Wagner, Art Linkletter, Pierre Salinger, Gisele MacKenzie, Anne Seymour, John Forsythe, Ernest Borgnine and Sheldon Leonard.

Home viewers can telephone bids, winning bidders will be announced and can pick up and pay for their purchases the following day.

HAVING, in the past expressed some views about these kinds of goings on on Public or Educational TV, I don't particularly want to harp on my dislike for them. They go on in various cities and do raise funds for these noncommercial stations. At least it's a means of funding more to my taste than getting money from government. The station just this week lost out on a $50,000 contribution from the city of Los Angeles, when the council trimmed the amount from the budget.

Dr. James Loper, the station's general manager, said the loss of the $50,000 from its $4-million budget would require fund-raising efforts elsewhere.

Some of the other places Educational TV stations are getting funds from is interesting and raises the question that occasionally rises in my mind about the nature of "commercial" and "noncommercial" TV stations.

PROGRAMS on Ch. 28 are sponsored by grants from foundations and on occasion by business concerns who get a credit. An example of such a credit from a financial house for a program on the stock market seemed to me institutional advertising.

Now there is a trend, reported by Jack Gould of the New York Times, for more of this sort of institutional advertising on National Educational TV. General Telephone and Electronics is underwriting a special on Helen Hayes for NET and Xerox is making a grant to NET to carry the British Broadcasting Corporation's series, "Civilization."

These institutional advertisers don't get to push their products on NET, but they get air credit in what amounts to institutional advertising. That seems fair enough to me and it is a far more sensible way to finance Public TV than auctions-on-the-air and allocations of funds by Congress or other political bodies, which have enough uses for tax funds without using them to support television stations.

Leave It To Larry

By LARRY MEDER

HARBOR CHEVROLET

This poor broken-down night club comedian was down on his luck with a hotel bill past due when he walked into a certain Hollywood booking agent's office carrying a large cardboard box.

After explaining his circumstances to the agent who was wearing dark glasses and smoking a huge cigar, the comedian opened the box and brought out a chicken, attired in a full-length evening gown of exceptional quality! Above the protests of the agent who claimed the public was tired of animal acts, the night club entertainer had the hen go into her act. She did a fine tap-dance routine, did imitations of eleven movie stars perfectly and completed her performance with an aria — sung in a mellow and molli-fuous contralto!

Obviously more enthusiastic than the agent, the comic pleaded, "Well Abe — wotta ya say, will ya get us a book-ling???"

Feigning indifference — (to keep the price down), Abe shifted the cigar from one corner of his mouth to the other and grunted, "I dunno — let me see her legs!!!"

Folks, don't get "fowled" up dealing with the wrong agent — Just dial "M" for Meder at Harbor Chevrolet, GA 6-3341, 3776 Cherry.

Problems of '70s Head Builders' Meet Topics

Special to Progress Section

Bold new approaches to housing the American people in the 1970s and for building communities with an eye to our environment mark the program of this next week's twelfth annual Pacific Coast Builders Conference at the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, Robert M. Holmes, conference president, predicts.

Holmes also announced the keynote speakers for the conference will be United States Senator George L. Murphy (R-Calif.); Oakley Hunter, president, Federal National Mortgage Association; Eugene A. Gullidge, assistant secretary for housing production and mortgage credit, HUD, and commissioner, Federal Housing Administration, and Louis R. Barba, president, National Association of Home Builders.

gushed men is a creative PCBC program that establishes new direction for the 1970s to meet the greatest housing demand in decades.

"This program ranges in coverage from new uses of computers in housing and the latest innovations for the traditional products of steel, wood and concrete, to the exciting new origins of houses in the factory," Holmes said.

AMONG these programs are, "Mass Housing: Must It Be Mobile Home or Pre-Fab?", and a program presented by the Young Home Builders of Northern California entitled, "Planned Unit Developments: Profits, Ulcers, Decision."

The former, moderated by Charles R. LeMenager, director, Department of Housing & Community Development, California, will analyze the impact of mobile and pre-fab housing on today's market and reveal whether the contemporary consumer en masse is ready for homes built in the factory.

The latter delves into the whole area of developing cities to accommodate all segments of the general and business publics to prevent urban sprawl.

IN THE area of space age techniques for construction, David Young, PCBC program chairman, said sessions are on tap called "New developments in the Use of Concrete in Residential Construction," by Portland Cement Association; "Steel In The 70s: Cost-cutting Products Versus Inflated Costs," presented by American Iron and Steel Institute, and "Timber Products: New Role for an Old Actor," by the Western Wood Products association.

In a relatively new, but expanding area of innovation to the construction industry, said Young, is a program entitled, "Computers: Fad or Functional?" Moderated by Larry Weinberg of the Larwin Co., this session investigates the potential of computers of producing housing of greater quality and lower cost, while answering the question of the computer's long-range value.

OTHER key PCBC programs include "The County Planner: Your New Partner," featuring the county planning chiefs from Alameda, Orange, Ventura and San Francisco Counties; a program on the importance of legislation to the building industry, titled "The Third House: Legislative Lifesaver," and moderated by Assemblyman Pete Wilson (R-San Diego); and the "New Tax Law: How Bad Is It?"

Directing the county planners session is John H. Tolan Jr., deputy for development, mayor's office, San Francisco.

Of critical importance in this day of "tight money" for builders, said Young, is a major session called "Construction Money: Where Is It?"

This program features top executives from four of the State's leading financial institutions.

They are Gordon C. Luce of San Diego Federal Savings and Loan; Jack K. Baillie, Los Angeles Federal Savings; Paul J. O'Brien, Security Pacific National Bank, and G. Robert Truex, Jr., Bank of America. Distinguished moderator of this program will be Richard T. Hanna, U.S. Congressman from Orange County.

EQUALLY important, declared Young, is the program "Apartments: Is Overbuilding Possible?" that delves into the currently burgeoning field of apartment building to determine whether we face an oversupply similar to the one that was so damaging four years ago, or whether multi-family housing is, indeed, the "wave of the future."

Headlining this panel will be such experts as William Lyon, Wm. Lyon Development Co., Newport Beach, and Gerson Bakar, Gerson Bakar and Associates, San Francisco.

Capping the PCBC program on Friday is an all-afternoon session on "In-City Housing: Facing our Nation's greatest Challenge," which will document the housing crises in the nation's largest metropolitan centers and present practical solutions to the problem.

INSIDE FREEWAY RAMP

Mission Viejo Plans Huge Motor-Motel

The Mission Viejo Company has announced approval of the master plan for the new $3.5 million Los Padres Motor-Hotel Complex, the first commercial center of its kind to be located within California's freeway ramping system.

The complex, which will overlook the Mission Viejo golf course, will be built within the newly planned Oso Parkway Interchange, due to be completed late in 1971.

"Without the invaluable assistance and tremendous cooperation of Orange County Road Commissioner Al Koch, Chairman of the Orange County Board of Supervisors Alton E. Allen, California Secretary of Business and Transportation Jim Hall, Public Works Director James A. Moe, and State Highway Engineer John A. Legarra, the development of this unique plan would have been impossible," said Philip J. Reilly, president of the Mission Viejo Company.

"THESE dedicated public servants, realizing that this complex would aid the taxpayers and provide a much-needed facility, helped us to overcome the problems involved with developing this concept."

Upon completion, the new motor-hotel complex will increase real estate tax revenues by approximately $85,000 a year, according to Reilly.

"In an ordinary freeway cloverleaf, the state must pay for the landscaping and maintaining of the land within the ramp," said Reilly. "As part of the freeway system, the land is removed from the tax rolls, reducing tax revenues."

Rancho Capistrano Seclusion Guarded

In the midst of booming Southern California, owners of Rancho Capistrano will enjoy complete privacy and seclusion.

The 133 owners of the 2.5 to 3-acre sites will have their property secluded by national forestland on all sides, and protected from intruders by locked entry gates.

Located at a smog-free 3,300-foot elevation, Rancho Capistrano is a fertile, 300-acre oasis in the midst of the Cleveland National Forest.

Most of the rancho sites are shaded by giant Spanish Oaks which maintain the charm of early California.

THE AREA is patrolled by a full-time security guard, and the property is deed-restricted to prevent commercialization or subdivision of the land.

The future development and government of Rancho Capistrano will become the function of the Rancho Capistrano Property Owners Association, whose board of directors will be empowered to maintain deed restrictions and architectural controls.

Recreational facilities include stream-fed lakes, miles of riding and hiking trails, picnic areas, and a furnished recreation building.

Riding stables and a fenced paddock are available for the care and boarding of horses, and owners can enjoy the pleasures of a weekend hideaway where they can escape from the pressures of modern suburbia.

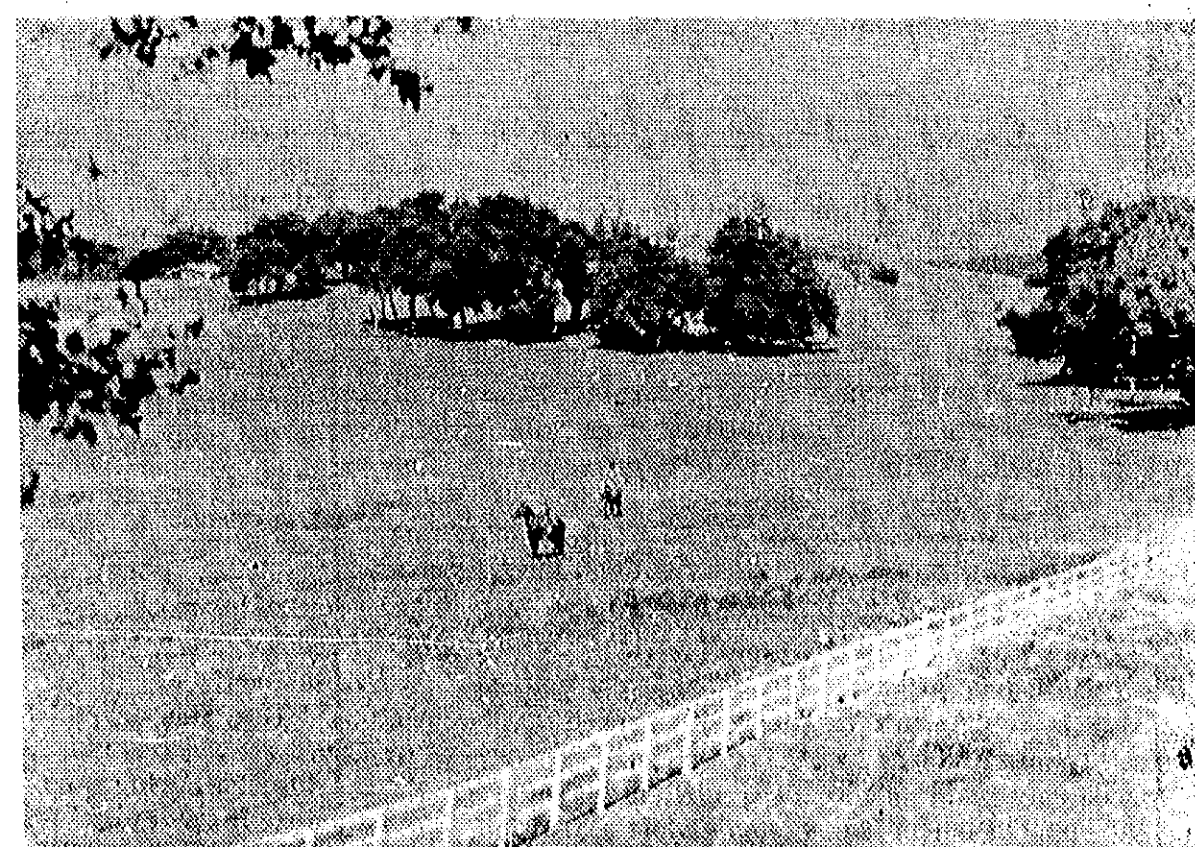

RANCHO Capistrano can be seen this weekend.

The gates will be open and a representative on duty at the recreation building will answer questions.

The drive is a pleasant one, and famous old San Juan Capistrano Mission, one of the most beautiful and historical spots in California, is an enjoyable stop for the whole family.

Drive east on Highway 74 from San Juan Capistrano, about 23 miles. Just past El Cariso Ranger Station signs will direct visitors to the right for about four miles to the gates of Rancho Capistrano.

A free color brochure may be obtained by contacting Rancho Capistrano at 2172 Dupont Drive, Suite 8, Newport Beach.

Dow Chemical Expanding Torrance Plant

The Dow Chemical Company has announced plans for a 120-million-pound expansion of its Torrance polystyrene production plant. The expansion project, scheduled to be completed in late 1972, will increase the plant's polystyrene production capacity to 210 million pounds per year.

E. C. Staehling, manager of Dow's Western Division, said the new facilities will enable Dow to continue its position as the major west coast producer of polystyrene.

"It is indicative," he said, "of our commitment to continue to serve in every way possible the growing plastics industry in the West."

EXPANSION of the Torrance plant will boost Dow's total U.S. polystyrene production capacity to more than 900 million pounds a year. Other Dow polystyrene plants are located in Connecticut, Michigan and Ohio.

Dow and its associated companies also operate polystyrene plants in 20 other locations outside the United States. Dow's polystyrene resins are marketed under the brand name Styron.

IN MAKING the Torrance plant announcement, a company spokesman said:

"Dow's research and development program in both product and process research are planned to offer our customers advantages in physical properties, processability, and access to new high value market opportunities.

"Dow has built an extremely strong raw materials position and a worldwide network of polystyrene plants which allow us to develop and implement the latest polystyrene technology."

Polystyrene is one of the most widely used families of plastics in the United States. More than three billion pounds of polystyrene are expected to be consumed in the United States this year.

Eve was the first woman to drink water.

Adam gave it to her from his cupped hands.

While the event is not chronicled as a major historic happening, Adam's and Eve's descendants, more importantly, have discovered that water is the most vital requirement of life.

Orange County's phenomenal population growth has become a matter of grave concern to those who are aware of the fact that without water, both economic and demographic increases would come to an abrupt halt.

On a recent tour of the State Water Project, Orange County civic and political figures saw firsthand the progress of the project and learned how it will affect Orange County specifically and Southern California in general.

THE GROUP, guests of the Municipal Water District of Orange County and the Metropolitan Water District, toured water facilities of the project between Orange County and Oroville and heard expert witnesses on the areas of the project yet to be completed.

Orange County water problems have not really been problems in the sense that they haven't been given the planning and attention of the Municipal Water District of Orange County's Board of Directors, but without the board members' experience and foresight, the problems could become manifold.

"The future of the Orange County water supply still is somewhat in jeopardy," reports Gerald E. Price, MWDOC board member who represents the 2nd Division including the communities of Westminster, Garden Grove, Los Alamitos and Stanton.

"WE WILL need the supply of water that the Peripheral Canal will bring to Southern California since in a very short time we will be unable to depend entirely upon imported Colorado River water supply."

Price, a long-time resident of Westminster, has seen Orange County blossom in housing tracts and industrial and commercial growth. He is one of the most experienced water experts in the county.

Economic Chart Not Always Evident in Mail Bag

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business-Real Estate Editor

The mail bag that comes to a business desk often reflects, with little deviation, the current economic chart. Since January, this necessarily hasn't always been true.

Last week, for example, one report began: "One third fewer homes may be built in Southern California this year . . ."

A few missives away was another report which began: "California's construction industry apparently is faring better this year than last . . ."

Both came directly from the expert economist's corner at Security Pacific National Bank, thus it was time to compare the two to determine why two varying viewpoints from the same sector.

Residential Picture

In the first, the reasoning went: New dwelling permits have been issued at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 76,700 this year, down from 115,043 last year, the bank's economic research department reports.

Rates this year indicate 27,000 new single-family homes (down 42.1 per cent from 46,622 in 1969) and 49,700 new apartment and other multiple residential units (down 27.4 per cent from 68,421 in 1969).

Security Pacific's figures are seasonally adjusted annual rates based on cumulative data for the first quarter of 1970. The data are part of a report on "Southern California Homebuilding Trends" published in the May edition of the bank's Monthly Summary of Business Conditions in Southern California.

The report covers the 10 southern counties of Imperial, Inyo, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, San Diego, San Luis Obispo, Santa Barbara and Ventura.

Homebuilding declines are ranging from 26.3 per cent in Riverside County to 54.4 per cent in Santa Barbara County. Among the 10 counties, only Imperial has experienced an increase—one of 12.9 per cent.

The Security Pacific report lists five factors that are tending to restrict homebuilding: (1) An inadequate supply of mortgage money. (2) High interest rates. (3) Increasing construction costs. (4) Proportionately less population growth than in previous years. (5) An indication that apartment sharing or "doubling up" is on the rise for the first time since the 1940s.

Nonresidential Boom

In the second report, the reasoning went: California's construction industry apparently is faring better this year than last, despite a homebuilding slump in populous Southern California.

Security Pacific National Bank reports that statewide building permit valuations for the first quarter are up 4.4 per cent (from $1.195 billion in 1969 to $1.247 billion in 1970).

Nonresidential construction authorized ($659.4 million) accounts for 52.9 per cent of the total valuation for this year's first quarter.

(In March—the latest month for which complete figures have been compiled by Security Pacific's Economic Research Department—54 per cent of all building activity was nonresidential: $262.7 million of $486.6 million in total valuations for the month.)

During the first quarter of 1969 the nonresidential sector accounted for 44.6 per cent of total building.

Is DJ to Climb?

Fifty-seven of 58 investment analysts and portfolio managers polled by Bankers Monthly Magazine expect the Dow Jones industrial average to be higher at year-end-1970 than it is now.

The results of this survey are reported in the May issue of the national banking and investment magazine, published by Rand McNally at mid-month.

The median estimate on the December 31 Dow works out to $39.50. Individual estimates are grouped as follows:

950	1 analyst
900-949	8 analysts
850-899	14 analysts
800-849	27 analysts
750-799	7 analysts
650	1 analysts

The majority of participants in this survey are engaged in the bank trust field, while others are associated with leading investment firms.

(A recent government study reveals that bank trust departments managed $188 billion worth of stock, or nearly a fifth of all corporate stock outstanding at the time of the study.)

Mobile Space Grows

A total of 11,941 mobile home spaces were completed or under construction in seven Southern California counties during the first four months of 1970, according to the Trailer Coach Association.

A breakdown of the counties and the number of spaces, which includes new mobile home parks as well as additions to currently established mobile home parks is as follows:

Los Angeles, 2,100 spaces; Orange, 2,064 spaces; Imperial, 28 spaces; Riverside, 1,352 spaces; San Bernardino, 2,869 spaces; San Diego, 3,033 spaces, and Ventura, 495 spaces.

The Trailer Coach Association also learned that 898 recreation vehicle spaces were added to four Southern California counties during the same period.

They were Orange, 387 spaces; Riverside, 156 spaces; San Bernardino, 6 spaces, and San Diego, 349 spaces.

No Trade Imbalance

Traditional trade imbalance in the Los Angeles-Long Beach area ended dramatically in the first two months of 1970, as export volume rose at a much faster rate than imports, it was reported by Robert H. Autenrieth, 1970 chairman of World Trade Week, just concluded.

Autenrieth said Southern California, traditionally more a consumer than a producer in international trade, had its best performance ever for exports in January and February of this year. Exports valued at $441.3 million were recorded by the Los Angeles Customs District, compared with $406.5 million in imports.

By comparison, in the first two months of 1969 exports totaled $352.5 million, and imports were $405.1 million during a record year for world trade volume.

"It is a pleasure to make this report," Autenrieth said. "While other segments of the local economy were experiencing well documented difficulties, one of the bright spots in business has been export expansion.

"Creating new business through exporting is actually one of the best methods of hedging against the effects of economic downturns at home. One of the primary goals of World Trade Week is to call the attention of the business community to the benefits of two-way world trade."

The export trade surplus of $34.8 million, he said, is partly the result of export expansion encouragement by many agencies, including the U.S. Department of Commerce Regional Export Expansion Council and the World Trade Department of the Los Angeles Area Chamber of Commerce.

The company will use the offices for the sale of insurance and the financing and servicing of loans, as well as claims adjustments.

GEICO has signed a five-year lease, beginning June 1, with an option for an additional five years. The total rent involved in the lease was $80,000.

Both the lessor and lessee were represented by Tom Merrick of T. F. Merrick Co., Inc., realtors and appraisers, of Long Beach.

'Electra-Bar' Bill

An electronic system which can automatically mix your favorite cocktail while providing the bartender with the check has been developed by the National Cash Register Company.

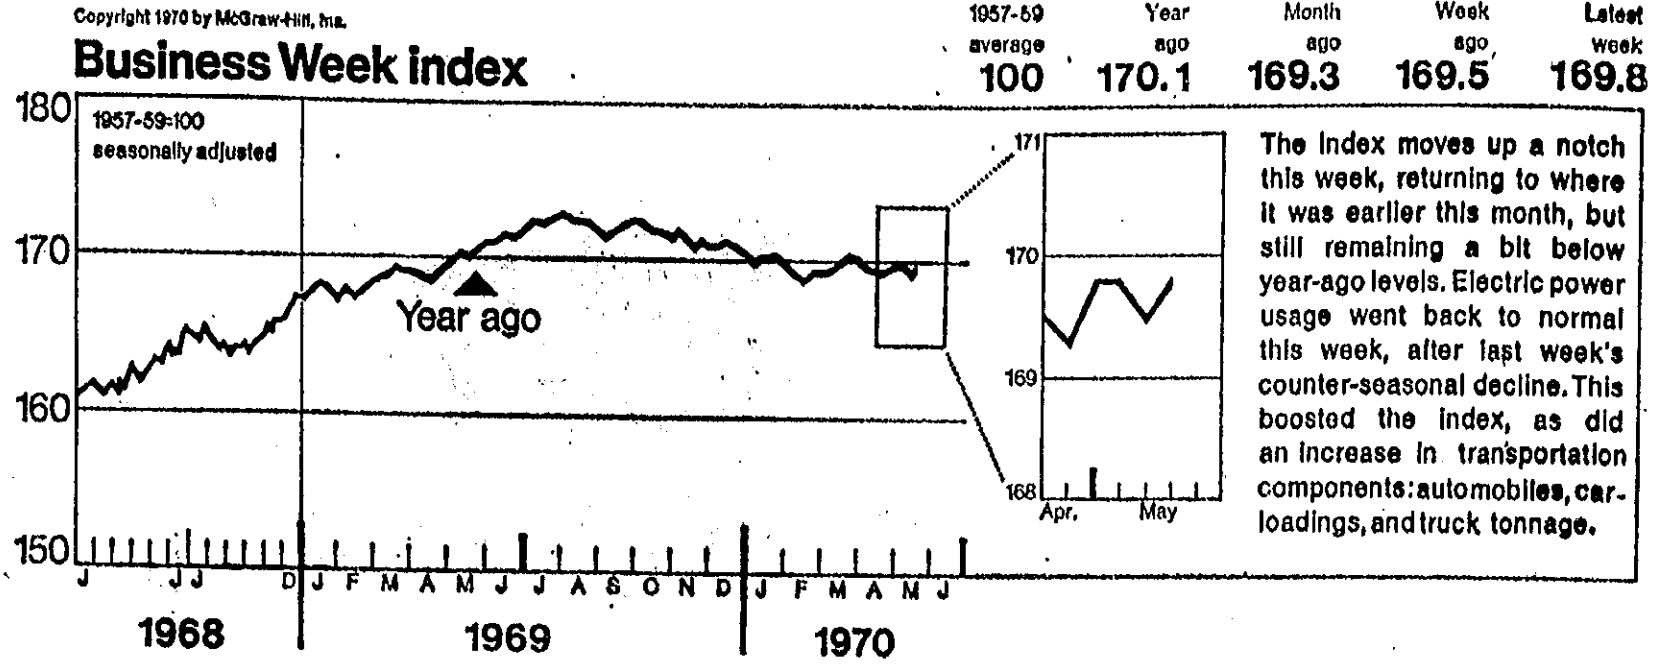

The revolutionary computerized bar system, called "Electra-Bar," represents the first major equipment change in the bar industry since the 1930s.

Each "Electra-Bar" is capable of mixing 38 different kinds of cocktails and highballs, including variations of popular drinks. For example, a restaurant owner can program his bar computer to deliver regular, dry, extra-dry and premium Martinis.

The liquor content of drinks can be regulated from one to three ounces and the mixer in increments of 1/8 ounces. The owner can easily adjust his lineup of cocktails and highballs to fit the volume and price requirements of such daily special situations as the "cocktail hour" or evening entertainment.

NCR estimates that "Electra-Bar" automates more than 80 per cent of the average bar's business.

Truck Tonnage Helps Push Index

This week's Index, responding to healthy gains in electric power output and intercity truck tonnage rose 0.2 per cent in the current week.

Auto output remained above the year-ago level, and gained 3.8 per cent in the current week. Several assembly plants scheduled overtime, offsetting some closings related to the death of UAW President Walter Reuther.

Steel production went down 0.4 per cent after seasonal adjustment.

Crude oil refinery runs decreased 0.4 per cent, while electric power output increased 4.9 per cent — a 12.5 per cent gain above a year ago.

Miscellaneous carloadings inched 1.8 per cent below last week's figure, reflecting losses in food, and pulp and paper transport. Responding to a 12.1 per cent gain in coal transport, all other carloadings were boosted 3.0 per cent. Intercity truck tonnage registered a 6.6 per cent gain. Truckers in all but two of the nation's cities ratified the new wage increases. Negotiations still go on in Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Paperboard production continued to fluctuate, and fell 4.3 per cent.

'MOST ADVANCED AVAILABLE'

May Co. Leases TRW Credit System

May Co., California, announced it will lease and install a new credit authorization system, developed and produced by TRW Data Systems, at all of its 17 Southern California Stores.

A May Co. official described the new system as offering the most advanced computerized retail credit service available.

Known as TRW's Credifler 3300 System, it is capable of storing and processing 600,000 customer account records from one central location.

May Co. looks for three major advantages when the system becomes fully operational in August:

More rapid and efficient service to May Co. customers who buy on credit.

Substantial drop in losses through improved control of credit accounts.

Expansion of sales through credit purchases.

A KEY feature of the new system is it will allow May Co. sales clerks to check instantaneously every credit purchase, as compared to only a limited number of credit transactions under the store's present procedure.

May Co., like most large department stores, has its sales clerk check credit

NAHB Post to Temple

Hubert A. Temple, president of American Mobilehome Corp., has been appointed chairman of the Mobile Home Parks Committee for the National Association of Home Builders, Louis R. Barba, president of NAHB, announced.

The newly formed committee grew out of the rapid expansion of the mobile home industry across the nation, said Barba.

"Its purpose is to work with mobile home manufacturers and builders to provide high standards of environmental development for mobile home communities," he said.

AS president of American Mobilehome, Corp., Temple heads one of the nation's largest producers of mobile home parks, with operations in 23 states. The firm is based in Los Angeles' Century City, 1900 Avenue of the Stars.

Long recognized as an expert in the area of specialized housing, Temple has built and sold over 5000 single-family homes, and has constructed many commercial structures and multi-family units as well as mobile home parks, said Barba.

"He is commissioner for the Los Angeles County Housing Authority, chairman of the Specialized Housing Committee of the NAHB, and is a member of Gov. Reagan's Task Force on Housing and Community Development," he said.

TEMPLE is also president of the California Builders Council, an affiliate of the 51,000-member NAIIB, which serves as the legislative arm of some nine builder associations throughout California.

The CBC, based in Sacramento, annually sponsors the Pacific Coast Builders Conference, the second largest event of its kind in the nation, which will be held in San Francisco June 3, 4 and 5.

Ad Club to Install Officers

Parkewood-Los Alamitos Attracts 4,000 People

Parkewood-Los Alamitos celebrated its official grand opening with a barbecue and tours of the model homes last weekend.

Response to the opening was "overwhelming," with over 4,000 Southern Californians turning out for the event, Parkewood officials said. Visitors viewed the five models and the recreational complex with its inviting clubhouse — and then enjoyed a barbecue by an open pit.

Parkewood is the newest development of SAS Construction, a division of Shapell Industries.

This planned community will include 103 homes with 3½ acres of beautifully landscaped common parks. Visitors were impressed with the originality of the Parkewood concept and design, combining seclusion and security of a walled community and minimum upkeep of grounds with maximum recreational facilities and activities.

THIS new, unique approach offers a country club environment while maintaining privacy for each individual homeowner.

The community is centered around a recreation complex featuring a two story clubhouse with a bar and kitchen which owners can reserve for parties, a sundeck, swimming pool, Jacuzzi, sauna baths, barbecue pit, and game room.

The design of the Parkewood homes is based on the new "patio home concept". The home is positioned on one side lot line and opens on to a patio on the other side. Patio areas are completely enclosed.

The wall of the adjoining home facing the patio is blank, giving complete privacy in each patio. Homes are located on cul de sacs. All garage doors are equipped with automatic openers.

Residents can walk out of their homes on meandering landscaped walkways to the recreation complex without ever crossing a street.

THESE single and two story homes offer 2 to 4 bedrooms, family rooms, spacious living rooms, master suites with dressing alcove, walk-in closet and private bath.

As with all S&S Construction homes, every wall and ceiling is built with genuine lath and plaster.

Parkewood-Los Alamitos homes are priced from $26,950.

Take the San Diego Freeway to Garden Grove, go north on Valley View to Lampson and turn west to the Parkewood sales office.

WORLD OF WHEELS

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

The minute I identified the voice on the other end of the phone I figured it was "wild wheels week" again. And I figured right because the caller was Gary Holland, car distribution manager for the Dodge Division, who calls when he has one of their performance goodies to loan out for a week or so.

Previously Gary had loaned me a Dodge Charger and then their special "Six-Pak" job. This time my "wild wheels" was a Dodge Challenger T-A named for the famed Trans-Am road races ... and this car was something special.

If you don't want instant attention, don't drive this Challenger T-A. The one I picked up at Dodge's West Coast offices in Fullerton was an orange and black job that was an attention grabber wherever I drove.

With its huge fresh-air in-take scoop on the hood, the rear-deck spoiler, the racing-type mirror, the special side exhausts and the E60x15 white-lettered Goodyear super-size rear tires, the T-A drew looks of approval while parked or in action.

And it's a real fun car to drive with its 6-pack "340" engine, rallye suspension, front power disc brakes and a four-speed stick shift with a pistol grip that makes gear changing a feeling of power under instant command.

CULLING FROM THE BROCHURE which describes the Challenger T-A Dodge describes the wild one like this:

Special 340-Six-Pak—Standard—THE CHILLER. Put the chill on competitors with this special version of the 340 which has three 2-barrel carburetors with a reinforced block in the main bearing webs.

"G60x15" White Letter Rear Tires—Standard—Don't miss this! These Rear Grabbers are two sizes wider than the front tires.

Black Grille—Standard. The part competitors will never see.

Power Front Disc Brakes—Standard—Stop! The power brakes have special discs with semi-metallic pads in front and 11-inch diameter drums in the rear. These are real anchors.

Fiberglass Hood With Fresh-Air Scoop—Optional—SCAT SCOOP. The fiberglass hood has a functional fresh-air scoop aerodynamically designed for real deep breathing. Competition-type pins are included.

SIDE EXHAUSTS—STANDARD—THE JETS. Special, low-restriction, dual exhaust outlets—the Jets—emerge under the side sills ahead of the rear wheel openings.

And that's the way the Dodge boys describe their hot new Trans Am 340 machine. They've only built 2500 units so far but if you want to drive one go down to Glenn E. Thomas, Dodge dealership at Anaheim and Elm in Long Beach. You'll find it a real challenger.

Shopping Center Is Rising

A new regional shopping center is now under construction in Cerritos.

Situated on 104 acres, the shopping complex will be on South Street at the San Gabriel River Freeway, between the freeway and Gridley Road. Over 1,000 square feet of floor space will be utilized, with a 6,000 to 7,000-car parking space provided.

Seventy shops are expected to be in operation by fall.

Sears Roebuck and Broadway Stores will occupy a large area and the air conditioned mall will feature specialty shops, including fashion centers, gift shops, shoe stores, beauty salons and others.

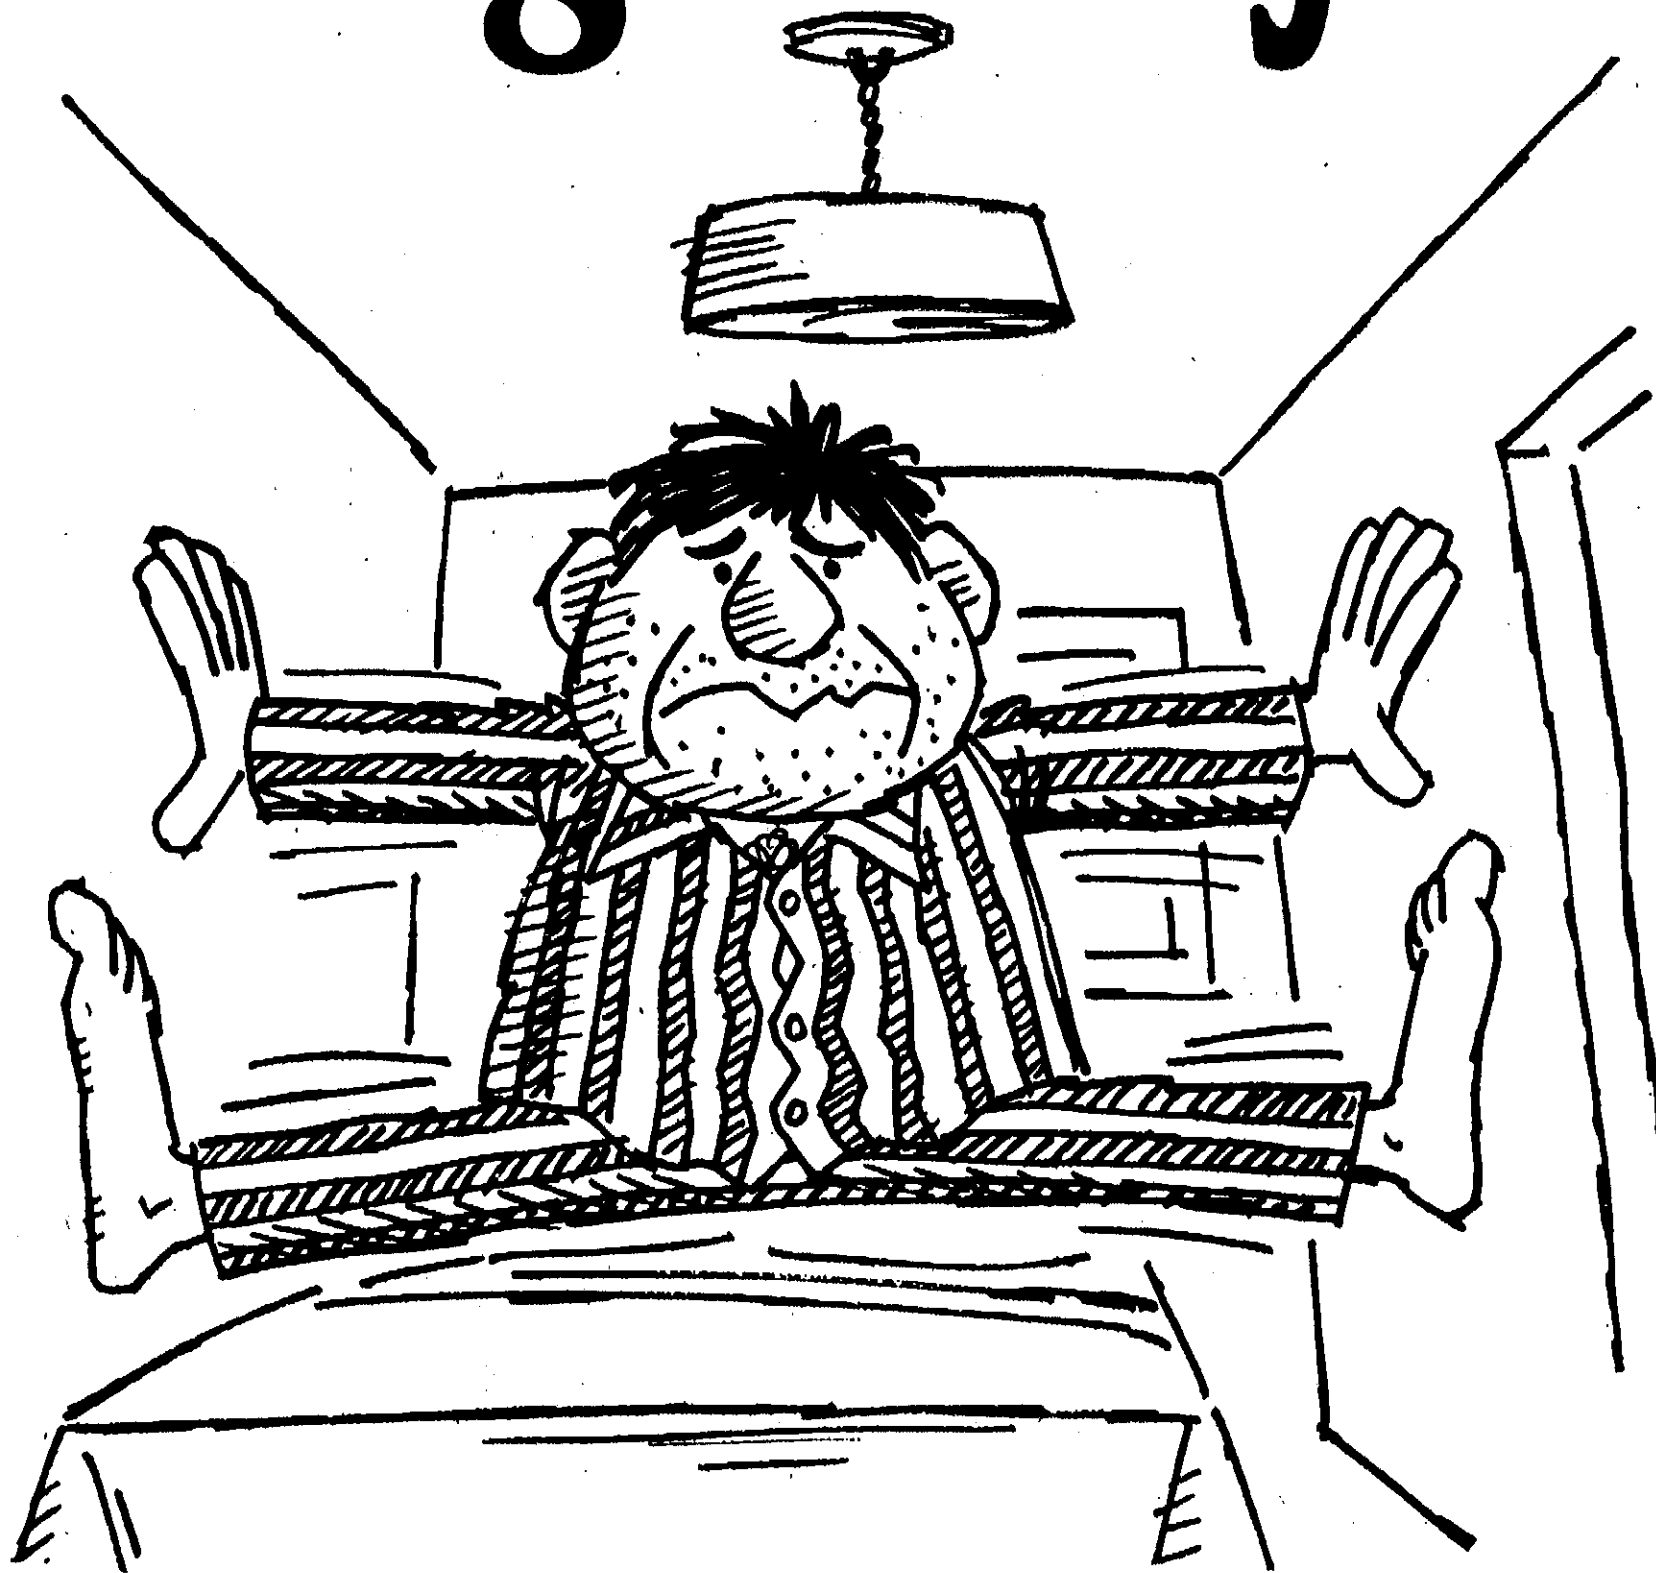

The perimeter of the parking lot will contain service centers, banks and restaurants.

L.B. Realtors Plan Color Slide Program

Curt Johnson, staff photographer for the Independent, Press-Telegram, will present a color slide program for members of the Long Beach District Board of Realtors at their meeting next week.

The group meets at the Lakewood Country Club at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday. Program chairman Don Jones said Gene Hoffman, membership chairman, will induct 11 new associate members.

WORLD OF WINGS

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

Pacific Southwest Airlines' proposal to acquire Air California, its Orange County intrastate competitor, was called off last week by PSA President J. Floyd Andrews.

Andrews said the agreement to merge the two lines serving northern and southern California points was terminated because of continuing delays in meeting various requirements. The case was recently read by the California Public Utilities Commission, which has jurisdiction over intrastate airlines.

Objections were filed by some Air California stockholders and employees, who maintained their interests would not be protected by the merger.

Both airlines previously had been granted authority to serve Long Beach by the PUC, on condition of City Council approval. The airlines were given a deadline of July 1 to reach an agreement with Long Beach officials.

TWO MORE AIRLINES were granted Long Beach rights last week, but neither is likely to begin service under the present city policy of discouraging additional commercial air traffic.

The PUC gave Holiday Airlines routes between Truckee Tahoe Airport and Long Beach, Los Angeles and Hollywood-Burbank. Holiday has had authority to fly from all three southern California points to South Lake Tahoe for more than a year, but has been unable to reach an agreement with Long Beach for terminal facilities.

Continental Airlines, which has long sought to start Long Beach service under a long-standing authorization by the Civil Aeronautics Board, was granted additional CAB approval of north-south interstate routes linking Long Beach with the San Francisco Bay Area, Portland and Seattle.

The authorization specifies that Continental use Long Beach, Orange County or Ontario airports as the southern terminus of the route, and excludes the use of Los Angeles International.

Continental also must use satellite airports in the San Francisco area, namely San Jose and Oakland. The airline has contacted Long Beach officials in the past in regard to service here, but has had no success in obtaining approval or the use of facilities.

Previous CAB route awards to Continental specified Long Beach or Ontario as terminals. The airline finally settled on Ontario as its Los Angeles satellite base, in spite of a stated preference for Long Beach.

Nancy Wilson OCMB to Help Watts Co. Hear Smith

Actress-singer Nancy Wilson has been elected to the board of directors of Saba Laboratories, Inc.

Smith's topic will be "Real Estate Investment Trusts." He plans a question-and-answer session.

Presley Development Reports 364 Sales

At the close of the first quarter of 1970, Presley Development Company reported 364 sales, representing approximately $11,000,000 in new construction. This includes completed escrows on 141 homes.

The company also held sales agreements on 223 homes, for delivery on completion of construction. The publicly-held home-building firm, which is based in Newport Beach, is currently developing sites in Cerritos, La Palma, Capistrano Beach, Fountain Valley, Riverside, Redlands and the central Irvine area.

Developments include the California Homes series, the Parkside Estates series, Oak Estates, and University Park, Riverside.

Seville Homes, Mission Viejo, Quickly Accepted

Public acceptance of Mission Viejo's new Seville Homes has resulted in the formal debut of a second increment of homes less than one month after the grand opening of the $16 million, 600-home neighborhood.

"More than 8,000 people have toured Seville Homes since our grand opening," said John Martin, vice president of marketing and sales for the Mission Viejo Company.

"The overwhelming acceptance of the homes is evident in the fact that our first phase is already 60 per cent sold out. We had to open this next unit now to meet public demand for the homes, despite the fact that this second unit was not originally scheduled to open until mid-July."

Martin attributed the sales to the location, design of the homes, prices that start at $23,995, and inclusion of the neighborhood in America's most successful planned community, Mission Viejo.

SEVILLE is framed by the spectacular foothill setting of gently rolling grassy slopes and valleys that border the northern boundary of Mission Viejo.

At nearly 600-feet above sea level, the location is the highest point currently under development in the 11,000-acre community.

The Seville site, on Trabuco Road at Los Alisos Boulevard, puts the neighborhood within one mile of the San Diego Freeway ramps on El Toro Road.

Portions of the neighborhood will overlook the Santa Ana and Sheep Hill mountain ranges, while other sections will be adjacent to a proposed wilderness park.

As projected, the wilderness park will encompass an extension unspoiled natural glen with trees, wildflowers, walking paths, campsites, picnic facilities and playground equipment.

"THE NATURE of the area around Seville had a great deal to do with our decision to launch a series of patio-garden homes," said Martin. "Only homes oriented to totally private indoor-outdoor living could do justice to the dramatic surroundings."

Outdoor privacy in the Seville homes has been assured by the use of five-foot masonry walls in the front of each lot.

The indoor-outdoor orientation is achieved by the use of multiple walls of sliding glass in each model. It is enhanced by the variety of home placements, with both zero-side-lot type and traditional central positioning being used.

Mission Viejo currently encompasses six distinct neighborhoods, shopping plazas, five schools and a college, the Mission Viejo

PROJECTS due to be completed this year include a library, theatre, nursery and garden center, additional recreational centers and shopping plazas.

Plans for the near future include an auto plaza, additional recreational and park facilities, additional

ARCHED ENTRY . . . Sets Stage At Charming Seville Home

Parkway, directly connecting the central sector of Mission Viejo to the San Diego Freeway.

Estimated population for the area is 90,000 to 100,000 by 1986. Current population is over 12,000.

The San Pedro-based commercial fishing fleet led all other U.S. fishing fleets in both the volume and value of fish caught during 1969.

Louisiana led all other states in volume of catch, slightly more than one billion pounds, followed by California with 575.9 million pounds.

In value of catch, Alaska was first among states with a value of $71.1 million with California again in second place with a value of $62.1 million.

During the year the nation's domestic commercial catch of fish and shellfish sold for $518 million, highest dollar value in the nation's history.

Department of the Interior, Bureau of Commercial Fisheries reported the value of the 1969 catch represents an increase of $47 million over that of the 1968 harvest.

The volume taken, 4.3 billion pounds, was 176.4 million pounds above the 1968 level and was the largest catch since 1966.

CATCH DATA GATHERED by the Bureau indicate record landings of Pacific anchovies, yellowfin tuna, shrimp, gulf menhaden, spiny lobsters, tanner crabs, dungeness crabs, and surf clam meats.

Meanwhile, a preliminary report filed by the California Department of Fish and Game indicates landings of anchovies for reduction totaled 83,515 tons for the 1969-70 season which closed May 15.

The anchovy landings were more than double the previous high for a reduction season which was 37,614 tons landed during the 1966-67 season.

The record landings occurred despite a restricted season imposed on the San Pedro fleet by the Fish and Game commission.

All but 2,001 tons of the 1969-70 landings were in the two open zones of the Southern permit area. The quota for the season was 140,000 tons with 130,000 tons in the Southern Permit Area and 10,000 tons in the Northern Permit Area.

ZONE ONE, roughly that area between the mainland and Catalina Island, produced landings of 42,707 tons.

Zone Three, the balance of the area south of Point Concepcion, produced 38,807 tons.

Zone Two, all waters out to the 12-mile limit and south of Dana Point, was closed to the taking of anchovy for reduction.

The Department of Fish and Game suffered the throes of moving this week.

The department, long headquartered on Terminal Island, moved into more spacious quarters at the one time Navy Landing in Long Beach.

Waste Pulper in L.B.

The Somat Corporation of Pomeroy, Pa., will demonstrate its mobile waste pulping system Thursday and Friday at Long Beach Memorial Hospital.

The demonstrator takes usual industrial waste loads, mixes it with water, grinds it, transports it by pipeline to a collection point, turns out a semi-dry pulp ready for hauling away.

Bulk of the original waste, Somat spokesmen say, is reduced 80 per cent.

Demonstration hours are 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 and from 1:30 to 4 p.m.

Preferential Lots Offered by Landmark

Preferential lots for the new Landmark Homes development in Cerritos are now being offered in the firm's pre-sale program, according to Bob James, vice president and general manager for Signal Landmark, Inc., the developer.

Homebuyers who prefer home sites on cul-de-sacs or corner locations can visit the temporary sales office for the project on South Street between Norwalk Boulevard and Bloomfield Avenue.

With 115 homes currently under construction, the Landmark Homes project in Cerritos will offer one and two-story homes of three and four bedrooms.

"creative side yard" concept.

With it an extra five-foot strip of land is added to the homeowners garden area by "borrowing" from his neighbor.

This successive borrowing is legally guaranteed by means of a permanent easement recorded in the grant deeds.

THE NEW Pat Nixon Park and Carver Elementary School are only one block away from the Landmark site. A junior high a mile of the homes.

Major department store shopping and two freeways are less than two miles from the new homes.

Forced air heating, fireplaces, acoustical ceilings, built-in TV antennas will be included in most plans while every home will enjoy rear yard fencing and patio kitchens with deluxe equipped range, hood, fan, oven, disposal and dishwasher.

THE Cerritos development by Signal Landmark, Inc., one of the Signal Companies of Los Angeles, is a private walled community with underground utilities.

To reach the Landmark Homes model area from the San Gabriel Freeway, take the South Street exit east; from the Artesia Freeway, take the Norwalk Boulevard exit south to South Street and turn left to the five model homes.

Gypped Home Buyer Has Friend in Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In increasing numbers, courts throughout the nation are awarding new home buyers damages from builders as a result of faulty workmanship.

A survey by Commerce Clearing House, a research organization, showed buyers were winning suits for cracked basements, smoky fireplaces and injuries caused by unreasonably hot water.

Many courts have ruled that the builder gives an "implied warranty" that the home will be defect-free, especially if it is purchased before construction is completed.

The Arkansas State Supreme Court upheld a damage award to a buyer because of faulty installation of heating and air-conditioning ductwork by the builder.

THE COURT said: "Twenty years ago one could hardly find any American decision recognizing the existence of an implied warranty in a routine sale of a new dwelling. Both the rapidity and the unanimity with which the courts have recently moved away from the harsh doctrine of caveat emptor (let the buyer beware) in the sale of new houses are amazing, for the law has not traditionally progressed with such speed."

Generally, the courts have applied the warranty doctrine only to defects arising from construction of new homes. There is no similar warranty available to the second buyer of a home.

Golten's Building Completed

Tri-Cor, Inc., of Long Beach, has completed construction of a new ship repair facility for Golten Marine Co. at 330 Board St., Wilmington.

Occasion was marked by open house festivities hosted by Golten Marine owners Sigurd Golten and Jens Bakken, and executive vice-president Joe Johnson.

In attendance at the celebration were civic dignitaries, members of the shipping industry, news media representatives, and executive personnel from Tri-Cor and Pascoe Steel Corp.

The new structure measures 50x100 feet.

Tri-Cor is a franchised builder of Pascoe Steel Corp., a nationwide firm in the metal building industry.

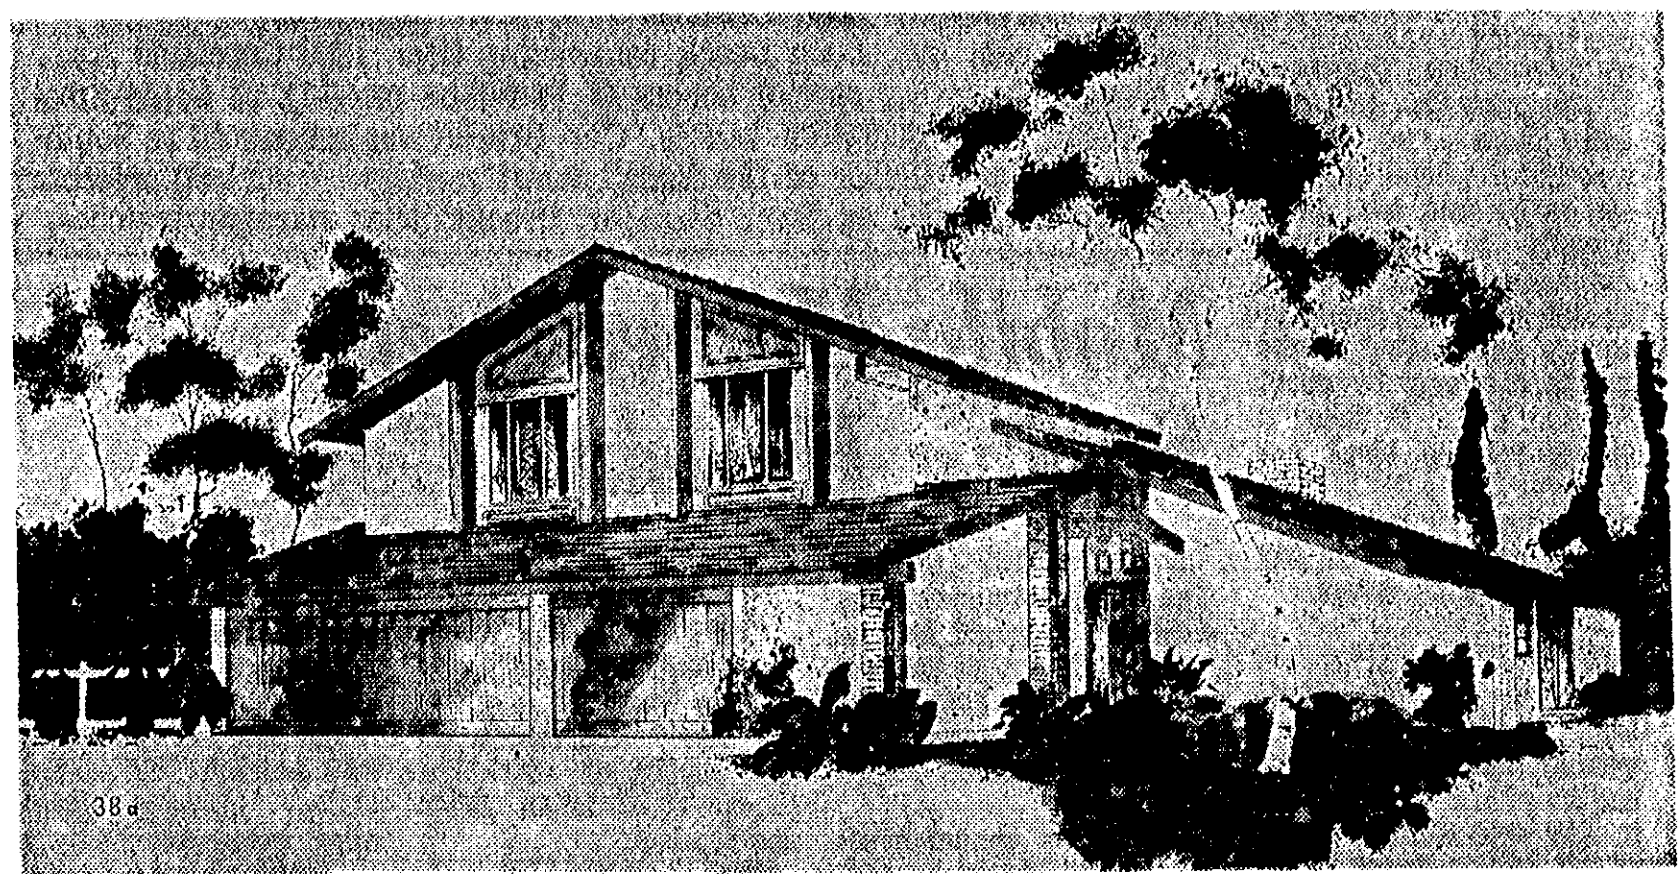

A COLORADO court awarded damages to the home buyer when, because of the nature of the soil, the basement slab floor cracked. Another Colorado decision went against a builder when clay soil beneath the foundation resulted in damages to the foundation, walls and floor.

In New Jersey, a family collected damages when a 1-month-old-boy was burned because a faulty hot water system poured water from the tap at a dangerously high temperature.

A California builder was found to be liable for loss of land due to a landslide.

In Washington State, a fireplace builder was required to pay damages to an apartment house owner because of smoke damage caused by an inadequate flue liner.

A Kentucky homeowner was permitted to recover from the builder as a result of a leaky basement.

Mobile Homes Seen Saving Housing Goal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Nixon administration concedes it would be unrealistic to expect housing production to keep pace with the growing need during the 12 months beginning July 1.

But in his annual housing report to Congress, President Nixon predicted the nation could meet its 10-year goal of 26 million new or rehabilitated housing units — provided that mobile homes are included in the total.

"For the fiscal year beginning this July — the third year as the goals decade — the revised target calls for achieving total housing production of slightly more than 2 million units," the report said.

"This is below the target for the year set in the first goals report and even if achieved (it) will not fully meet current needs stemming from new household formations and losses of existing units.

"BUT IT is the maximum realistic target possible for the year — given the likely constraints on the supply of mortgage funds, construction labor and lumber."

The administration estimated that starts on new, conventionally built, unsubsidized housing would total only 1.06 million units during the 12-month period beginning July 1.

That is only about two-thirds of the original goal of 1.6 million new conventional units for the year.

Unsubsidized conventional new housing starts totaled 1.44 million units during the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1969. That fiscal year included both good and bad times for housing. It has been all bad since the Spring of 1969.

THE administration estimated construction of 1.09 million new unsubsidized units for the current fiscal year that ends June 30.

Although conventional unsubsidized construction is the heart of the real estate market, the administration includes several other categories in its list of goals.

The report estimated 505,000 new and rehabilitated subsidized units would be produced in the next fiscal year compared with an estimated 310,000 for the current year and 198,000 for the last one.

In addition, mobile home shipments were estimated at 475,000 for the coming fiscal year compared to 450,000 for the current one and 363,000 for the previous fiscal year.

TOTAL housing construction, including subsidized units and mobile homes, was estimated at 2.04 million in the next fiscal year compared to 1.85 million in the current one

WHAT'S YOUR PROBLEM?

Renting Would Be Best for Family's Short Stay

By DON CAMPBELL. "Home," they say, "is where the heart is." So it brings up an interesting point as to why so many people spend so much time worrying about the equity status of their home. Are they happy there? This, in the final analysis, is the only thing that really makes any difference. Do they own it? Do they rent it? Who cares? To be together in a comfortable situation is the final determinant as to whether a "home" is something more than a "house."

MR. CAMPBELL: My husband is in Vietnam at present and is being transferred to northwestern Florida the first of May where we will be four years. We are trying to decide if it would be worth our while to purchase a home for such a short time.

Considering the high rate of mortgage interest, real estate taxes, points when we would sell, and maintenance and improvements in those four years, we aren't sure it might not be cheaper for us to rent. What is your opinion of the problem of buying versus renting for that short a time?—Mrs. P.P.B.

ANSWER: From the oblique implication here, I gather that your husband is a professional military man since it seems to be and 2 million in the previous fiscal year.

The report marked the first time that mobile homes were included in the national housing goals. When Congress established the goal in 1968, it envisioned 20 million new unsubsidized housing starts and 6 million new and rehabilitated subsidized units by 1978.

The administration's new goals call for 16 million new unsubsidized units, 6 million new and rehabilitated subsidized units and 4 million mobile homes, pretty well spelled out how long you are going to be in Florida.

In normal times — whatever those are — I would suggest that you might be better off buying a home as a means of building up some equity before the vagaries of military service move you on with little in the way of capital appreciation to mark your passing. That's what I would tell you in normal times. Let's face it, these are not normal times.

There has probably not been any four year period in the history of this country that promises to be in more economic doubt than the upcoming four years. It doesn't have to be as grim as this makes it sound, but the potential is there.

In the face of the wrath of the real estate establishment, therefore, I would suggest that you not buy a house at this time under your particular circumstances. Keep solvent, keep out of debt, and save your money.

By the time your husband is assigned to your next station, the horizons should be clear of dark clouds now hanging over them. This, in all likelihood, will be the time to start building an estate through home ownership. It's probably not the answer you wanted to hear, or is it?

MR. CAMPBELL: It may seem like a small matter to you, perhaps, but, as a housewife, I find the constant window condensation in my house a source of constant annoyance. Is it due to a structural defect? A flaw in our heating system. Or what? Do you have any suggestions?—F.S.

ANSWER: Window condensation — picturesque though it may be — is a pure and simple matter of excessive humidity in the house. The most obvious solution: throwing open the windows to admit fresh air after bathing, washing or drying clothes — the common sources of excessive humidity.

If this doesn't do it, then I suggest you check out the following: look for water seepage in the walls and in the roofs; check the attic ventilation; check the basement for ventilation and vapor barriers; and, finally, check with a local plumbing contractor to see if the addition of a dehumidifying unit might not solve your problem. It could be worse. You could have termites.

(Campbell welcomes letters. He is unable to enter into personal correspondence with readers, but will answer as many as possible through his column.)

Wood Panel Doors Enrich Room Decor

If interior doors don't add to decor, room decoration is less than it can be. The decorating principle of combining beauty and function is sometimes overlooked in one of the basic elements of every home — its doors. Not using them to best visual advantage is like not using clothes to enhance appearance.

In days when beautiful doors had to be custom-crafted at high cost, they were generally found only in expensive homes. But, the availability of precision-manufactured, quality wood panel doors at reasonable cost put them in reach of the average homeowner. Panel doors of ponderosa pine, for instance, which come in stock sizes and a wide range of beautiful styles, can be bought at local lumber dealers.

THE DECORATING advantages of wood panel doors result from a happy combination of natural assets and modern manufacturing techniques. Wood has a naturally-attractive "warm" look. Wood doors can be stained or varnished to highlight the natural grain, or easily painted to blend with room decor. Wood panels give distinctive shadow lines to a door and add visual dimension and design.

Modern factory techniques have made authentic styling possible in all types of wood panel doors — closets as well as entries. This makes it easy to find doors to reflect and enhance a room's decorative theme.

AMONG the variety of ponderosa pine panel door styles are:

- Cross-and-Bible — a six-panel Colonial style, with the top four panels representing a Cross and the bottom two depicting an open Bible.
- Mediterranean and Spanish styles — multi-paneled, many with decorative embossing and open grillwork.
- Three-panel Modern, eight-panel Florentine, and 15-panel Tudor designs.
- Louver doors — generally used for closets, also make decorative room dividers and connecting doors. They are available as folding or sliding units, and come fully-louvered or with louvers in the top half and a closed wood panel in the bottom.

California Land to Go to Buyers Worldwide

California land will be sold from The Hague on one side of the world to Okinawa on the other, reports James M. Reed, president, U.S. Land Development Corporation of Los Angeles.

Reed said his firm, a subsidiary of Western Research and Development Corporation, Los Angeles, has initiated a search for organizations in the Western World for the sale of California land.

Reed said three already have been appointed. They are F. de Cicco and Associates International, 714 Ludwigsburg - Danziger Strasse 31, West Germany; George Paine, Cabad Apsco, Kozu, Okinawa, and George B. Good, Good Investment Realty Co., The Hague.

The company has land parcels which vary from lots to 160 acres.

"WE ARE searching for sales organizations throughout the Orient and Europe," said Reed. "The inventory in U.S. Land Development Corporation involves thousands of acres of both investment and recreational land."

Reed stated California land has emerged as the most valuable of all land in America.

"The value has gradually shifted from East to the West," says Reed. "California is considered just as sophisticated and futuristic as New York. It has lost its cowboys and Indians characterization that lasted for so many years."

Reed, who headquarters at 1424 Ventura Blvd., Sherman Oaks, said his company will sell land parcels in Arizona, Oregon and Colorado where the "West was made."

"HERE the cowboys and Indians still roam the range, but with the tremendous deficit in recreation land, they will have to get along with the other Americans who come there to fish for trout or go camping."

"What has happened in America has also occurred in Europe and the Far East in terms of substantial losses of individual investors in mutual funds and the stock markets."

"California land continues to increase in value in contrast to securities. The same can be said of other land holdings in Oregon, Colorado and Arizona," said Reed.

"Foreign investors in U.S. land will find that their profits are largely secured by the fact that the supply of land nearly always falls short of the demand."

Use of Returnable Bottles Could Help U.S. Ecology

By JIM BAKER
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Earth Day activists and others worried about the environment, roadside litter and waste of resources may not be alone in wanting to end the use of disposable bottles.

The Coca-Cola Co. and the Royal Crown Cola Co., Georgia-based firms, report that it is more economical for them to use the returnable bottle.

But, the companies say they are caught between not wanting their labels littering the landscape and satisfying the big food chains and convenience stores which refuse to handle anything but nonreturnable containers.

Some breweries are in the same squeeze. The manager of Carlings, Atlanta brewery, Roger Watts, said that more and more beer is being sold through the large chain stores.

A Coca-Cola spokesman also blamed the demand for one-way containers on the large retailers.

"IT'S MORE economical for us," says Coke's William Pruett. "It's more economical for the consumer, but the stores believe that the handling of returnable bottles is too much of an economic burden on them. They're the ones who have encouraged the one-way container."

Watts said that "the glass companies have sold the retailers" on the nonreturnables.

"Handling bottles is one of the biggest headaches we have," says a spokesman for an Atlanta-based food chain who asked not to be identified because "I don't want a bunch of activists descending on us."

He also charged that "the soft drink industry has another motive besides pollution — they've got a sizeable investment in returnable bottles."

"They also want us to do their work for them — the whole thing is an enormous headache."

The spokesman also said that the public wants one-way containers. "I think we proved that with the gallon milk container. There was a savings of 10 cents on the gallon if the consumer used the returnable container. But they just wouldn't use it."

"TO ABANDON one-way containers would inevitably lead to economic disaster," said the spokesman or Coke, whose no-deposit cans and bottles comprise 30 per cent of its business.

Zahler-Built Homes Planned

George Zahler, developer of Huntington Villas, income-oriented residential community at Beach Boulevard and Stark Street in Huntington Beach, has announced plans for three similar "homes with an income" complexes in Los Angeles and Orange Counties.

Construction already has been completed on the first unit of a "homes with an income" community, Ventura Villas, at the entrance to Ventura Keys in the city of Ventura.

Zahler describes the income-plus-ownership plan at Huntington Villas as a concept which gives the buyer possession of a full-size luxury home as well as rental income from four or five adjoining apartments.

THE BUYER also benefits from tax advantages, including "first owner depreciation," Zahler states. Purchase price of the properties ranges from $102,500 to $113,500. Financing is offered at 7% per cent annual percentage rate.

The owners' villas feature up to 2000 square feet of living area and as many as four bedrooms and two baths. Fireplace and paneled den are decor highlights.

Streets and ground sites at Huntington Villas are scenically engineered to impart the appearance of a single-home neighborhood.

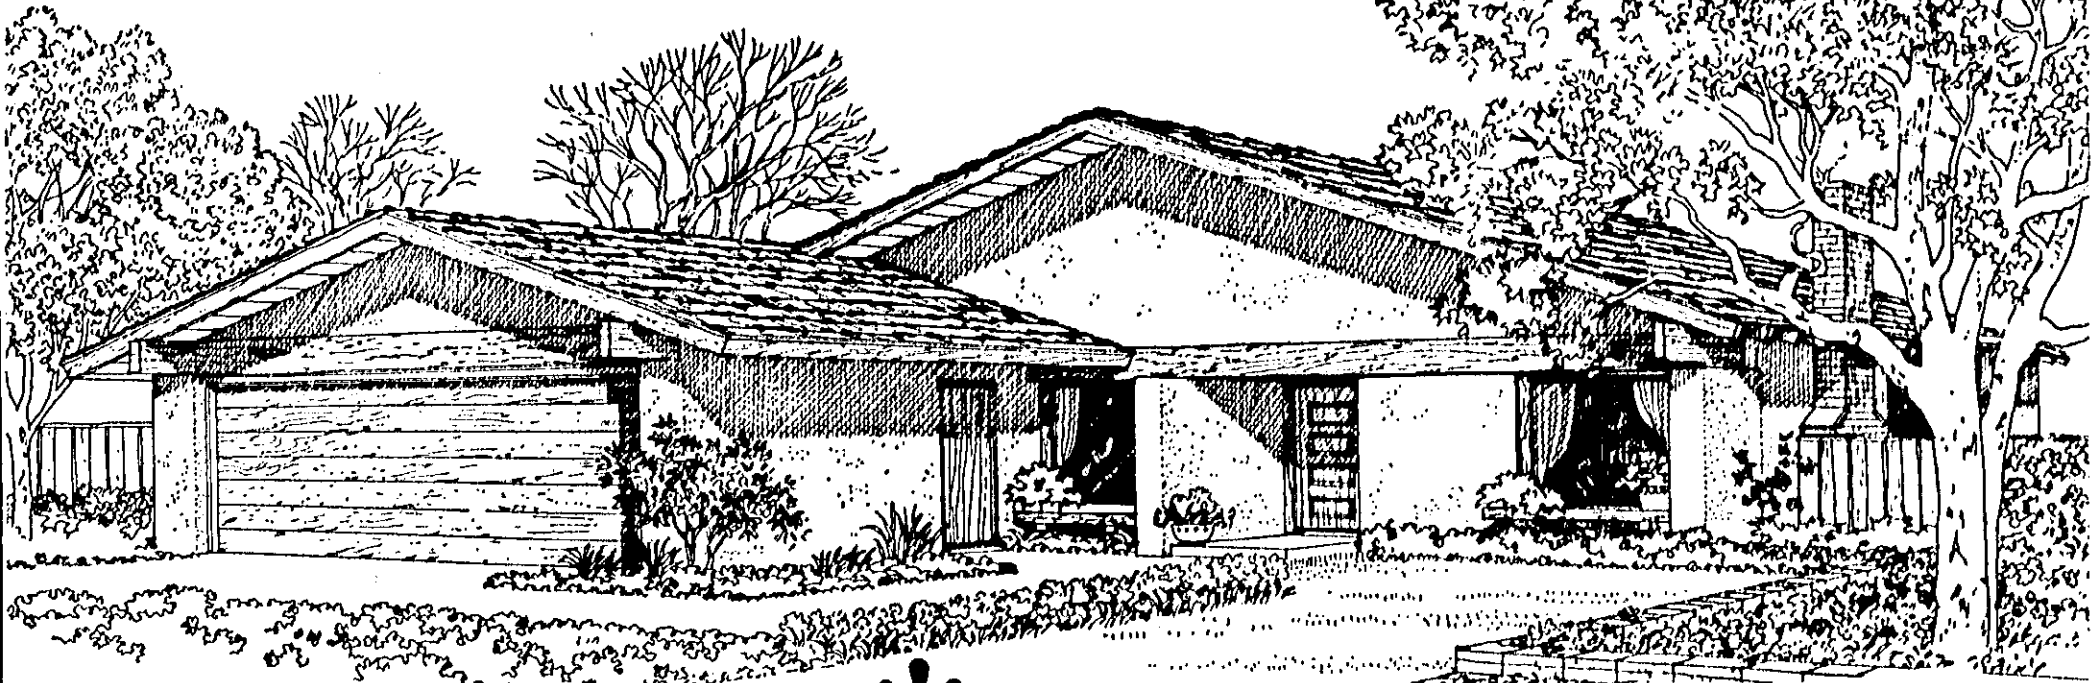

Huntington Villas is reached from the San Diego Freeway by exiting at Beach Boulevard and driving south one block beyond Edinger Avenue.

There were 18,839 paid admissions in the seats and there was noise and drama and excitement. But alas, there were no runs for the Angels.

There has not been a run scored by the home team for 23 innings. The victim Friday was Andy Messersmith, the fiercely competitive young man who made only one mistake, but the price was staggering.

Messersmith tried to throw a slider past Boog Powell with a man on in the eighth inning. He did not succeed. Powell hit it a mile and Mike Cuellar, with a 10-strikeout, 4 hit performance, took it from there and threw a 2-0 blank at the suddenly inoffensive Angels.

The Angels' clubhouse was as silent as a tomb. Players sat in dejection in front of their lockers and stared blankly at the floor. Messersmith retreated to the training room and hung his head as if his commendable six-hitter had been shameful.

Lefty Phillips coaxed a wan smile and said, "There ain't much you can say. We didn't get any runs and they got two."

In blatant contrast to the depression down the corridor, the Oriole clubhouse echoed with raucous laughter and needle-like barbs.

"It's a shame," said Earl Weaver, the fiery little gentleman who manages the Baltimore, "that somebody had to lose a game like that. But I'm sure glad it was them and not us."

Powell, the enormous first baseman, shook his head in mild disbelief after his 14th homer and 39th RBI, both top-ranking figures in the American League, gave the Orioles their 19th victory in their last 24 games.

"I can't see how a man like Andy can lose a game," Powell applauded.

ANGEL OF DAY

None.

"He is the toughest I've ever faced."

Powell could not remember the pitch he sent on a line toward the Imperial Valley.

"I was just up there to get wood on the ball," he said. "I told myself that I wasn't going to get cheated. I was determined to have a good cut."

Sadly, for the rest of the league, Powell, despite his .315 average and other impressive statistics, does not feel he is in peak form.

"I'm not consistent," he explained. "I don't feel as if I've gotten as hot as I can. But, I'll tell you one thing — this is my best start of my career and it's fun to come to the park every night."

It was not fun for the Angels or Messersmith.

They loaded the bases against Cuellar in the first inning and could not score. They had Jim Spencer double and reach third with one out in the seventh inning but could not score. Then they had Alex Johnson open the ninth with a triple but could not score.

Now they have lost three in a row, their longest string out setbacks in what has been an amazing season to date.

Cuellar, who broke slowly from the gate, was Messersmith's master on this evening. He struck out 10 and wound up with a four-hitter. He now looks like the man who is co-holder of the Cy Young award.

Two starts ago against Detroit he allowed the Tigers only one run and lost. In his last outing against Boston he permitted only two hits in eight innings and was not involved in a decision.

Friday there was redemption for the 33-year old native of Cuba.

"He needs warm weather," Weaver said. "He is getting on in years and he has had some arm trouble. He just couldn't get loose in the cold weather but he's been throwing the devil out of the ball this month."

There were two out in the eighth inning when Frank Robinson, returning to the lineup after a

BASILIO RETURNS TO RING?

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Former middleweight champion Carmen Basilio, 43, told The Associated Press Friday that he will return to the ring "if the right offer is made."

Basilio said he would like to be matched against current middleweight titleholder Nino Benvenuti of Italy.

"I saw Benvenuti's last couple of fights on television and I know I can handle him," Basilio said.

Asked why he would start at the top in a comeback attempt, Basilio replied, "I only need about three months of heavy training, so why go through those club fights?" He noted that the "quality of fighters today" is another reason for his being drawn to the ring again.

"I'm not going to step into the ring to fight for peanuts, but, if I can take three months to get in top condition, I know I can handle any middleweight fighting today," he said.

Basilio said he would have to shed a few of his 168 pounds, but he has been running and boxing with his nephew, welterweight Billy Balkus.

The former champion is public relations agent for the Carmen Basilio Italian Sausage Co.

RUSTY REDFERN, 6, of Atlanta, Ga., was born without arms, but that doesn't prevent him from playing in the Pee Wee Baseball League. Rusty 'hits 'em where they ain't' (top), blocks the hard shots (left) and kicks the ball to the first baseman. Rusty plays shortstop — with vigor.

Unser '500' Man to Beat; Weather May Beat Him

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The weatherman threw the Speedway an unpredictable curve Friday on the eve of the 500-mile Indianapolis auto race, forecasting scattered showers for the holiday classic before an expected 300,000 fans.

Showers could delay or possibly postpone until Sunday the richest auto race of them all, for an estimated $900,000 jackpot, with the winner receiving about $225,000.

The man to beat, according to the consensus, was pole-sitter Al Unser, in his royal blue Ford-powered machine, co-owned by 1963 race winner Parnelli Jones.

But Unser, who became 31 Friday, shrugged off the role of favorite.

"Anyone in the first four rows could win it," he said. "Should it rain, the result would become even more unpredictable."

'500' in Long Beach

The "500" will be shown on four-screen closed circuit television in Long Beach Arena commencing at 9 a.m.

It would become even more unpredictable."

For the first time, the traditional drivers' meeting on the day before the race was held under a paddock grandstand because of rain. The drivers heard chief steward Harlan Fongler's 11th-hour plea for safety in the event of trouble on the race course.

Fongler emphasized it was a "wide-open" chase. "Any one of you can win it," he said.

Every car in the field is capable of the winning speed and the question should settle down to which machines can endure the pounding, twisting and tension required by the whirling dash.

As evidence of the stress placed on both drivers and machines, only nine of the 33 drivers starting today ever have finished the entire 500 miles in this race before.

Still, it was the handsome Unser, of Albuquerque, N.M., who was the top favorite, although no pole-sitter has gone all the way since Jones did seven years ago.

Unser set the pace throughout the month in practice. He won the pole on the first day of time trials and he was the swiftest in Wednesday's dress rehearsal carburation tests, last actual running on the track before the flying start of the race scheduled for 9 a.m., PST.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., shooting for an unprecedented fourth "500" victory; defending champion Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa.; Mark Donohue of Media, Pa.; Dan Gurney of Santa Ana, and Joe Leonard, Unser's teammate in an identical car and the track record-holder from San Jose, were others mentioned as possible winners.

There was general agreement that Andretti's race record of 156.887 mph, set last year, will be shattered barring a rash of accidents that bring out the yellow light and slow down the field.

The possibility of rain isn't being discounted, either, in the light of the forecast of a 50 per cent chance of showers.

"If we bring out the yellow, slow down to a reasonable speed—120 to 125 miles per hour," Fongler told the 33 starters. "Behave yourselves under the yellow and don't improve your positions. If you don't behave, we'll black-flag you."

Fongler reminded the drivers that 101 of the 200 laps of the 500 miles constitutes a race, and if the race must be stopped due to rain anytime after 101 laps, that's it.

The race last year was called because of rain in 1950, after 345 miles, with Johnnie Parsons the winner. Three years ago, after 18 laps, it was stopped because of showers and resumed the next day, with Foyt the winner.

In 53 years, the "500" has been stopped due to rain only three times and postponed twice.

Bobby Unser, Al's older brother, is the only other former winner in the field. The field also includes four rookies: Rick Muther, Greg Weld, Dick Simons and Donnie Allison, one of four drivers in Foyt's stable.

Former world Grand Prix champion Jack Brabham of Australia is the only foreign driver in the field.

Dodgers Get Lift From Willie D.'s Surge With Bat

By GORDON VERRELL
Staff Writer

ST. LOUIS — It was on May 1 and Willie Davis, the man who said he would hit .400, was 210 points short of his goal.

Willie D. was hitting .190 but he was still smiling.

"You guys will be back," he shouted to reporters as they bypassed his locker night after night.

Sure enough, less than a month later Davis is a hot item. The batting average has jumped nearly 100 points to .284, and he's swinging just like late last summer when he constructed his 31-game hitting streak.

Friday night, in the opener of a three-game series with St. Louis, Willie D. collected three hits, two of them triples, and drove in four of the Dodgers' runs in an 8-6 decision over the Cardinals before 30,536 fans at Busch Stadium.

While the Dodgers collected a dozen hits off five St. Louis pitchers, Alan Foster received another pasting. His position in the starting rotation is in jeopardy.

"I don't want to make up my mind tonight," said manager Walter Alston. "I know Joe Moeller has pitched well in the bullpen and deserves a chance, but if I have a chance to win a game with Joe in relief, I'll use him and not pass him by just so he'll be able to take a start."

Foster, who earned the No. 4 position with a big spring, has failed to complete a game nine times in a row and 11 out of 12 times. He was gone in the second inning Friday night as he failed to hang onto a 4-0 lead. Jose Pena, who pitched four innings, got the win and Jim Brewer earned his sixth save.

The Dodgers, after blowing the big lead, had to come from behind to get the win. Davis and Maury Wills produced the sparks.

DODGER OF DAY

WILLIE DAVIS slammed two triples and single to drive in four runs in Dodgers' 8-6 victory at St. Louis.

Davis got his second triple in the fifth, then scored on Wes Parker's sacrifice fly to tie the score at 5-all. In the sixth Jim Lefebvre singled and scored when Ted Sizemore got a pinch double. Wills doubled home Don Sutton, who ran for Sizemore, and that was the decisive run as Lou Brock tripled home Julian Javier in the Cardinals' sixth.

The emergence of Davis from his sluggish start is the brightest note on the trip in which the Dodgers have split their first four games.

"I feel really good now," Davis said. "I got some static from people in the stands about my saying I was gonna hit .400. I didn't let it bother me. "No, I wasn't dejected about the slow start. I always start slow. Last year, when I had that streak, I was waiting more. This year I was lunging. Now I'm back to waiting and it's making the difference."

In his last five games Davis has hammered 13 hits in 23 at bats. He left

Contention Goes Deep in L.B. Golf

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

When the city golf championship reaches the quarterfinal stage, it usually is easy to select one or two players who stand out above the rest. This year it is impossible.

Six genuine title threats and two longshots make up the field for today's fourth and fifth rounds, and only two will survive for Sunday's 36-hole finale, all at El Dorado.

Steve Cook plays Larry

Benson in the featured match this morning at 9:07. Longshot Dave Joyner and Kemp Richardson also meet in that foursome.

The 9 a.m. group pits Gary Wishon against Mike Fiedlerly and Dick Mortensen against the other longshot and only "over-40" golfers in the field, Willard Bryan.

Cook disposed of John Richardson in the first round and he won this tournament at El Dorado three years ago. He has not been razor-sharp but has made birdies at propitious times.

Benson is the hottest shooter, 11-under-par for three matches, and he has beaten tough opponents. This is his first city championship, and that may work against him.

Richardson has not played enough golf in recent months to be at his peak, but he has all the shots and if he can play back to his USC form, he may win it all.

Joyner is erratic, but at 6-4, 190 pounds, he's a big hitter and can make birdies. Not expected to last this long, he may be loose enough to oust one of the favorites.

Fiedlerly, probably the best putter in the tournament, rates a slight edge over Wishon based on his short game, but Wishon has had unbeatable moments (4-under in one match) and he gained the semis two years ago.

Mortensen is the only other sub-par shooter (2-under for 50 holes) besides Benson and his many supporters are convinced it will take sub-par golf to beat him.

Bryan is a fierce competitor who won't beat himself, but he may not drop enough birdies to outlast Mortensen. He reached the quarterfinals last year and almost knocked off Bill McCormick.

Mortensen and Fiedlerly figure to meet in the afternoon along with Richardson and the winner of the Cook-Benson match.

Today's flight pairings at Recreation Park.

The pairings:
1st flight: 9:06, Eddie Griffin vs. Stan Snow, 9:12, David Kim vs. Howard Schinnerer.
2nd flight: 9:06, Jim Hanlin vs. Ron Moody, 9:12, Mel Wilson vs. Nolan Green.
3rd flight: 9:18, Stan Parker vs. Paul Broden, 9:24, Jay Manning vs. Darryl Conn.
4th flight: 9:18, Gene Gaultman vs. John Paul, 9:24, George Potter vs. Walt Bajer.
5th flight: 9:30, Kumpo Palfranca vs. Howard Peterson, 9:42, Allen Bocher vs. Vince Gorman.
6th flight: 9:30, Bill Morgan vs. Don Smith, 9:42, Carl Maxwell vs. Frank Holland.

8th flight: 9:48, Buster Allen vs. Jack Roberts, 9:54, Eugene Johnson vs. Len Toshi.

Memorial Day

Boat Races-- Families Arise!

Residents along Marine Stadium won't have to think twice about what day it is this morning. By the ear, bursting roar of engines, they'll know it's Memorial Day and that means the Southern California Speedboat Club's 22nd annual Regatta.

Circle-racing drivers of hydros, ski runabouts, flat-bottoms and crackerboxes will be rocketing over the course in search of world records, a regularity in the Belmont Shore Lions Club-sponsored event.

Gates open at 8 a.m., prelims are slated for 9 with finalists hitting the line in the vicinity of 11 a.m.

More than 20 superstocks will be trying to qualify for eight racing positions. The crackerboxes will be out in force, as will the E, K and ski runabouts plus the 145, 150, 225, 266 and 280 hydros.

K class competition will feature the duel between Charles Hamill, 1969 national high points champion, in Sunburst and Bob Patterson's Super Cinders the world record holder.

Pushing Sunburst and Super Cinders will be Master-charger, driven by Don St. John. Also competing Saturday are the 5-liter hydros, fastest of all Southern California Speedboat Club boats with speeds of 148 miles per hour.

Joan Steele is slated for double-duty, singing the National Anthem before driving Blue Goose Too, a 145-hydro, in competition. Long Beach City College coed Jackie Schenck will reign as queen of the regatta, with Rams linebacker Doug Woodfield officiating as grand marshal.

Attracting spectator interest in the pit area will be John Beaudoin's world record-holding jetboat Hustler, in addition to top dragsters and funny cars.

Leo Reprimands Cubs for Vote 'Against Wrigley'

Combined News Services

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. — Chicago Cubs owner Philip K. Wrigley said Friday newsmen have created a "tempest in a tea pot" with reports he was irked at manager Leo Durocher for chiding the players for not approving an original major league owners offer.

Chicago papers carried reports Friday that Durocher had reprimanded the team members Thursday for voting down the owners first proposal earlier this month, even though they reportedly approved the latest offer Thursday.

The reports said Durocher had told the players their vote had made Wrigley feel bad and that Wrigley considered Durocher's comments in bad taste. "I didn't say that," Wrigley said. "If I ever saw a tempest in a tea pot, this is it."

Wrigley said several players contacted him last year saying they did not want to vote for a players strike and asking what they should do.

"I told them to go along with the rest of the fellows," Wrigley said. "There's no reason for their sticking their necks out on my account. I feel the same way now."

In his comments after a hectic Cub 8-7 victory over Pittsburgh Thursday, Durocher said he took the re-jecting vote as a personal affront to Wrigley.

"Why, he's helped some of these players with big loans — $50,000 — with no interest. They can see him for anything they need and usually get it."

Wrigley said he had not seen reports of Durocher's comments and did not know what he said, adding, "Mr. Durocher is Mr. Durocher."

"You know, there's this commercial on television now. What do you want, a good manager or good taste," Wrigley said.

Asked which he would take, Wrigley replied without hesitation, "a good manager."

Blancas Birdies Last Two Holes, Leads by Stroke

Combined News Services

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Homero Blancas birdied the last two holes Friday and swept into the second-round lead of the $150,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Open Golf Tournament with a five-under-par 65.

The Happy Hombre from Houston, winner of the prestigious Colonial National Invitation two weeks ago, had a 36-hole score of 131, nine-under-par on the 6,466-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Brash Dave Hill, the first-round leader and Blancas' playing partner, slipped to a 69 but was tied for second at 132 with long-shot Jim Grant. Grant, who has never led and never even come close to winning in 2½ years on the pro tour, had a 65.

The disgusted Hill started off with a 20-foot birdie putt from off the green on the first hole and felt that jinxed him for the rest of the day.

"When I birdie the first hole it's a dead cinch that I am going to be only two or three under," the Jackson, Mich. pro said.

"The whole disgusting thing is that I have missed five greens this week and played them six over par. Put my brain in a bluejay and it wouldn't even get off the ground."

The short course continued to take a dreadful beating from the touring pros. Blancas and Lou Graham each recorded a front nine 29, five-under-par and the lowest on the tour this year.

Rod Curl, a Winita Indian from California, notched the first double eagle when he holed out a 220-yard three wood shot on the 500-yard, par five 16th hole.

Veteran J.C. Goosie was alone at 133 after a 64 and six others followed at 134.

They were Dick Crawford, who was alone in second going into the day's play, Jim Jamieson, Graham, Joe Campbell, Joel Goldstrand and big George

Millikan Girls Capture First CIF Swim Title

Ann Simmons and Sue Atwood each won two events and set one national record Friday night to enable Millikan High to capture the first girls CIF swimming championships.

Miss Simmons set her record in the 400 freestyle with a time of 4:04.5. She also won the 200 freestyle in 1:57.3.

Miss Atwood set her national mark in the 100 backstroke with an effort of 1:00.0. She also won the 200 individual medley in 2:13.0.

Both of the girls swam on the victorious 200 medley relay team with Cheryl Botti and Rachael Fitzhugh in a time of 2:00.0.

Millikan edged Sunny Hills by 12 points for the title at Beverly Hills.

Kennedy Lures Top Spikemen

BERKELEY (UPI) —

John Carlos, Randy Matson and John Pennel head a field of an even dozen world record holders past and present today in the second Kennedy Invitational Track and Field Games at the University of California's Edwards Stadium.

Carlos heads a sprint field which includes six men who have run 100 yards in 9.2 seconds and eight others who have been timed in 9.3.

Pennel tops a world class field of pole vaulters and his mark of 17-10 1/4 doesn't appear to be safe. Matson, who sailed the shot 69-8 last Saturday in the California Relays at Modesto, hopes to go that far or farther to win this week.

Other prominent world record holders include Lee Evans, Jay Silvester and Jorma Kinnunen of Finland, who owns the world javelin record of 304-1 1/4.

"The mile does have the man who has the year's best performance thus far — New Zealand's Dick Quax, who did 3:57.8 early in the season.

The relays races figure close with UTEP, UCLA and Cal the leading teams in the 440, and Rice, the Southern California Striders, UCLA and Abilene Christian the ones to watch in the mile.

In other women's matches, Virginia Wade of Britain stopped Helga Host-Schultze of West Germany, 9-7, 10-8 and Francoise Durr of France beat Christiane Spinoza of France, 6-2, 6-1.

Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., seemed to find the footing better as he throttled Patricio Rodriguez of Chile, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0, during the rain sprinkles.

Rain interrupted the Ashe-Pietrangeli match for an hour during the second set. The fourth-seeded American grabbed a quick 4-1 lead in the opening set and then just as quickly dropped the next four games to Italy's top-ranked player.

An obviously shaken Ashe managed to push through for the triumph, however, and was leading 2-1 in the second set when rain halted the action. Ashe's game, when play resumed, was as bright as his yellow shirt and he ran out the set for the win. He

LET YOUR LIE DETERMINE WHERE CLUB ENTERS SAND

Many otherwise fine sand shot players lose strokes when they face a hilly lie in the bunker. A close study of the illustrations in today's lesson should help these players.

Illustration #1 shows a side view of the clubhead's path on a sand shot from a level lie. The point of entry of the club into the sand may vary with individual taste. If you are in doubt about this, I suggest you consider 1 1/2 to 2 inches behind the ball as being normal.</

Heckle, Jeckle Orioles

All Business on Mound

BALTIMORE (AP) — Eddie Watt stayed at teammate Pete Richert as he strutted into the Baltimore Orioles' locker room, nattily attired in a mod outfit.

"Here he comes," said Watt, an Iowa farm boy with a crew cut. "The over-the-hill hippy. Me, I'm basically conservative. I go for the classic styles."

"Classic?" shot back Richert, a slicker from the suburbs of New York City. "More like mid-Victorian."

"Can't be," Watt retorted. "I don't wear ruffles."

"OK," Richert said as he patted his long sideburns into place. "Just say outdated. I'm waiting for you to wear coveralls on the road."

Richert and Watt are direct opposites in many ways. But when it comes to throttling the opposition or playing practical jokes, the Baltimore bullpen aces are a perfect pair — on the order of Heckle and Jeckle, the devilish crows of the movie cartoons.

Richert is a left-hander from Floral Park, Long Island, with the aforesaid penchant for flashy clothes. He contends Watt, a right-hander from Lamoni, Iowa, "believed for a year that New York subways were tornado tunnels."

"The fact that we're opposites," Richert said, "is the reason we can room together on the road. If we were the same, we'd get on each others' nerves."

"But we think alike in our approach to the game," Watt observed. "We both challenge the hitters with fast balls and sliders, and we have the attitude that if we don't get the batters out today, we'll get them out tomorrow."

HECKLE AND JECKLE OF BULLPEN

Pete Richert's mod-styled trousers get 'Oh, no!' reaction from Baltimore roommate and bullpen accomplice Eddie Watt, who is as conservative as Iowa farmboy. Oriole hurlers are opposites except when it comes to baseball philosophies.

Richert has a 2.0 record with six saves and a 1.23 earned run average in 12 appearances, and pitched hitless ball for 8.2 innings.

Watt, like Richert, has allowed just two runs and his ERA is 1.00 for 18.1 innings covering 16 appearances. He has a 2-1 record and four saves.

"They're fantastic," said George Bamberger, Baltimore's pitching coach. "They've been the finest relievers in the league the past two years."

As Baltimore breezed to the American League pennant last season, Watt had a 5-2 record, 16 saves and a 1.65 ERA. Richert was 7-4, with 12 saves and a 2.21 ERA. Together, they appeared in 100 games.

Watt, at 28 two years younger than Richert, pitched more innings and attributed the difference to Richert's "advancing age."

While not pitching or warming up, Heckle and Jeckle found time to toss fireworks at former teammate Moe Drabowsky in the opposing bullpen during a game, paint the bullpen area at Kansas City in Baltimore's orange and black colors and put goldfish into a water fountain for the benefit of former teammate Gene Brabender.

SWAP MEET

Abernathy Acquired by Cards

Combined News Services

St. Louis made a move to strengthen its bullpen Friday while Boston and Kansas City swapped infielders.

The Cardinals sent utility infielder Phil Gagliano to Chicago's Cubs in exchange for veteran right-handed relief pitcher Ted Abernathy. Gagliano was hitting .187 in 18 games while Abernathy showed a 2.00 earned run average for 11 appearances.

Abernathy has pitched for Washington and Cleveland of the American League and Atlanta, Cincinnati and Chicago of the National. He was named fireman of the year in 1965 and 1967.

The Red Sox dealt Tom Matchick to the Royals for Mike Flore. Matchick had one hit in 14 at bats this season while Flore, taken from Baltimore in the expansion draft, picked up 13 safeties in 72 trips to the plate.

Pittsburgh went to its International League farm team at Columbus for second baseman Dave Cash and righthander Jim Nelson, returning infielder Jose Martinez and placing lefthander Joe Gibbon on the disabled list.

Milwaukee shook up its pitching staff, sending righthander George Lauzeur to Portland of the Pacific Coast League and recalling Dave Baldwin and Ken Sanders from the same club.

The Brewers also learned that lefty Johnny Morris has been suffering from a kidney infection the past seven days and will require extensive medical care at Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. Arm trouble has also sidelined Bob Mayer, another lefthander.

Maryland Has Early IC4A Lead

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Maryland scored heavily in the field events as expected to take the lead Friday in the 94th annual outdoor IC4A track and field championships, but Villanova remained in strong contention with a victory in the six mile run and some sideline juggling by veteran Coach Jim (Jumbo) Elliott.

Maryland got a quick start in defense of the title it won last year by a point over Villanova with seven points in the javelin and six more with a first place in the discus by Paul Corrigan. He tossed 173 feet, 6 inches to beat Frank Howard of Dartmouth and two-time heptagonal champion Ken Dietz of Penn.

Villanova as expected didn't score a point in the field events. Nine of Elliott's runners qualified plus the 440 and mile relay team.

Elliott, scounging for every point in an effort to offset Maryland's field superiority, ran his premier miler, Marty Liquori, in place of sprinter Larry James in the mile relay. This enabled James, who also competed in the 440 and the 440 relay, to run in the 220-dash.

HUNTING REGULATIONS

Month-Long Dove Season Approved

By DONNELL CULPEPPER
Staff Writer

The California Fish and Game Commission, meeting at the New State Building in Los Angeles Friday, set hunting regulations for the 1970 season, adhering in the most part to its original determinations made at two previous meetings.

Even though Sept. 1 falls on a Tuesday, the commissioners decided that when the Interior Department announces the framework for dove hunting in all states, California's dove season, statewide, will start Sept. 1. It will run through the entire month of September.

The commission also decided that more time would be given the quail, chukar and rabbit hunters. Rabbit season will begin throughout the state July 4 and continue through Jan. 31, 1971, with a limit of five cottontail rabbits. There is no closed season and no limit on jackrabbits in this state.

The surprise of the FGC meeting was the decision to allow quail and chukar shooting, statewide, from Oct. 31 through Jan. 31, 1971, which means a full three-month season for the upland bird hunters. The quail limit will be 10 per day and 10 in possession; chukars, six per day and in possession. A special mountain quail hunt for some northern areas was set for Sept. 28 through Oct. 30, with a limit of six per day and in possession.

The statewide pheasant season will be from Nov. 21 through Dec. 20 with a limit of two male birds in the north and two of either sex in the south per day and 10 for the season. The pheasant shoot in Imperial County and eastern Riverside County will be from Nov. 21 through Jan. 23, 1971, with the same limits as those in the statewide season.

The sage grouse season was set for Sept. 5, 6 and 7 in Lassen, Modoc, Inyo and Mono Counties.

tion of one week; limit, two bucks, forked horn or better. Humboldt area — Sept. 26 through Oct. 25; limit, two bucks. Inland, or late, season, Sept. 26 through Nov. 8; limit one buck. Northeastern area, which includes Inyo and Mono Counties, Sept. 26 through Oct. 25; limit, one buck. The special 1% district will have the Sept. 26-Oct. 25 dates, but the one buck that can be shot must have three points or better.

The early archery deer season was set for July 11 through 26; late, Aug. 22 through Sept. 13, with the same limits applying.

The commission adopted the controversial recommendation of the Department of Fish and Game, which would require a hunter killing one buck in a one buck area to use both the A and B stamps, which would keep that hunter from killing a second buck in another one-buck area. A more detailed explanation of that ruling will be forthcoming at a later date.

Only one bear may be taken by a hunter in the Sept. 26-Jan. 3 period, and the areas for taking bear will be defined in the 1970 Hunting Regulations pamphlet which will be made available as soon as possible.

Upon recommendation of the DFG, the commissioners adopted a spring and a fall season for wild turkeys, with the spring shoot starting April 24 and ending May 2; fall, Nov. 21 through 29. The fall shoot will allow two birds daily or in possession, but the spring will have a limit of one bird daily or for the season. Shooting in the spring season must be done from one-half hour before sunrise to noon.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

The name Fatsia (Aralia japonica), is derived from the Japanese vernacular for this plant. Fatsia japonica foliage is glossy lush green, deeply lobed, and almost a foot in diameter. It is a subtropical but presents a bold pattern of foliage. It is popularly used in tropical landscape plantings.

Though it stands cold down to 10 degrees above zero, and tolerates cold drafts in breezeways, it thrives in dense shade. It stands considerable amount of sunshine, but too much sun causes the leafage to turn yellow.

It grows in almost any garden soil, but will grow better in a soil mixed with organic mulch. Fatsia grows well as a tubbed specimen too. The roots stand confinement.

A GROUP OF three plants close together in the ground or in a container creates a multiple-shrubs effect. The gardener can cut back one plant to force several secondary new growths as a multiple shrub.

Fatsias have clusters of white blooms which burgeon forth in December and continue providing needed winter color. Faded flowers develop shiny black berries.

There's a close relative of the Fatsia that is a welcome plant in the shade garden.

It is Fatsia lizei, a shrubby vine that is a bi-generic of the Fatsia and Hedera helix hibernica "Irish Ivy."

One of the reasons it hasn't been popular may be due to the fact the gardener simply trains the few vine-like willowy branches to grow as they will and ties them to supports to grow upright. These branches are spindly and leafless perhaps three fourths of their upright growth. With only the top area in leafage they are unattractive.

The vine branches need to be trained to grow out in a horizontal, fan shaped position. Therefore the young tips should be pinched out at least three or four times. Pinch each time four or five leaves have developed. Each pinching doubles the number of new vine branches to grow out. This means many more vine branches, more foliage, plus an attractive espalier design effect on the wall, or the fence, whether for landscape effect or screening purpose.

LOWNS MAY not create a landscape effect as such, but they do provide a welcome mat of green color that adds considerably to it.

A lawn can be kept green and neat by periodic fertilization, sufficient watering and regular mowing. A lawn, whether grass or dichondra, should be fed at least once every three months, that is if you use a pellet form turf fertilizer. Liquid lawn feeding should be done oftener.

New grass lawns should be watched closely for two problems. One is the lawn moth worm infestation. The other is possible fungus damage.

The two damage signs are easy to detect.

Lawn grass spots, regardless of size, means it is a fungus condition. Use a turf fungicide to control it. Follow the directions on the label of the fungicide container.

Lawn grass spots with some wisps and small tufts of live grass within dead areas, are caused by lawn-moth worms. You'll use a stomach-type spray, as recommended by your local nurseryman.

Dead dichondra lawn spots of varying sizes means fungus. Cutworms cause small areas of dichondra to be leafless. The leaves disappear from live runner branches which have small holes in some of them if cutworms are present. Spray the whole lawn with a stomach-type spray.

My beautiful Sago Palm specimen is developing a cone for the second time in three years. Presently, it is the size and appearance of a large cantaloupe. If history repeats, it will evolve gradually into a cone about three inches in diameter and eighteen inches high. Should this cone be left alone until it topples over by itself or should it be cut off? Last year two new sets of fronds began developing at the palm's base. I suspect their origin was the year previous when the first cone arrived. Sometime in the fall I separated this new growth from the parent plant. Two bulbs about the size of grapefruit, came up. I planted one in a container which has shown no growth to date. The other was planted in a sunny spot in the garden where it seems to be alive, at least one of the fronds is still green. My question: If the same circumstances occur again, when should the new growth be separated from the parent plant and how can you suggest a procedure for the separation?

"Probably the cone is a male. Leave it alone. The new growth at the base (pups) may be separated from the plant when a leaf appears. If such circumstances occur again, the new growth may be separated from the base of the parent plant, preferably by carefully sawing it off, then dusting the sawed off end with a fungicide dust. Let it dry a few days in shade, then plant it in a container with drainage provided. The planting mixture should be 50 per cent peat moss and 50 per cent sand. Water as needed to get it started." There's going to be a 6th Annual beautiful Bonsai Show this weekend at the Arboretum 301 N. Baldwin Avenue Arcadia, sponsored by the Santa Anita Bonsai Society. Look up Jim Barrett, he'll be there Sunday.

YOU SAW IT ON T.V.! . . . NOW READ ALL ABOUT IT!

This is it! The final Week-end of the biggest sale in our history. Ralph Williams bought the entire liquidated inventory of a Bay Area Chrysler-Plymouth dealer. Our 7 acres are still swamped with over 100 truck loads of new and used cars. Drastic savings passed on to local buyers. RALPH SEZ: "DON'T MISS THIS ONE. IT ENDS SUNDAY MIDNIGHT."
